

Historic Photographs Added to Collection of Lincoln Relics

Major Henry R. Rathbone - Henry R. Rathbone, Jr. - Mrs. Henry Rathbone, Sr.

Henry R. Rathbone, prominent Chicago attorney who lives at 312 Sheridan road, Kenilworth, has presented photographs of his father and mother Major and Mrs. Henry R. Rathbone, to the Lincolnia at the Lincoln tomb in Springfield. The Rathbones were guests of President and Mrs. Lincoln in their theater box on the night of Lincoln's assassination.

When the sudden, murderous attack was made by Booth, Major Rathbone, who was unarmed, sprang to the assistance of the President, but was stabbed by Booth, receiving a severe wound.

The major and his wife at the time of the tragedy were a young couple engaged to be married. Major Rathbone was a distinguished soldier of the Twelfth United States Infantry during the war, and Mrs. Rathbone, then Miss Clara Harris, was the daughter of United States Senator Harris of New York, one of the founders of the Republican party. President and Mrs. Lincoln smiled upon the romance.

On the fatal evening, April 14, 1865, General and Mrs. Grant were to have been the guests of the President and Mrs. Lincoln, but they were unable to attend and Major Rathbone and his fiancée were invited instead. They drove to the theater from the White House with President and Mrs. Lincoln.

Miss Harris' father had been one of Lincoln's staunchest supporters in the Senate during the war and a very warm friendship had sprung up between Mrs. Lincoln and the young woman.

A number of interesting personal letters which passed between the wife of the president and the daughter of the senator were presented to Robert T. Lincoln by Mr. Rathbone, Jr.

By an interesting coincidence Mr. Rathbone, who is the oldest son, was born on Lincoln's birthday.

Modern Art.
The Critic (darkly)—There's one handy thing about this modern art—the less you study it the better you understand it.

Can You Beat It!
No better vacation motto has been devised than that of which Pliny reminded Tacitus: "Better be at leisure than at nothing."—Boston Herald.

Advantages of Fall Planting

Plant Material becomes firmly established and starts growing as Spring opens up.

Different State Experiment Stations have proven that immediately after planting in the fall trees and shrubs begin to put out small fibrous roots.

Avoid the Spring rush by planting now.
