Annual Gathering of Illinois Federation of Women on April 19

THE Ninth District, Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs, will hold its annual meeting with the Edgemere Woman's Club, April 19th, at 12 o'clock in Huntington Hotel, 4526 Sheridan road, Chicago. Luncheon will be followed by reports, speaking, songs by Miss Ruth Andre, original poems by Mrs. Wm. M. Hopkins and the election of a president, two secretaries and four directors.

The retiring president, Mrs. Auguste Babize, of Glencoe, has encouraged the formation of new departmental study classes by presenting a series of ten readings, illustrating the characteristics of the various periods in the history of dramatic literature from 700 B. C. to the present day.

A play written by Mrs. Babize, based upon the life of Madame Roland, heroine of the French Revolution, was produced by a cast from Le Cenacle in the rooms of the College Club, and a "walking rehearsal" of the play was given for the literature department of

Rich And Wholesome Is Quick's Story of Tow-Headed Dutch Lad

POSSIBLY there is a Vandamark township among the fifteen hundred or more that go to make up the state of Iowa. Its geographical reality is relatively unimportant since its material existence can be little more convincing than its viviparity as the literary fabrication of Herbert Quick, whose new (and to our knowledge only) novel of note, "Vandamark's Folly" (Bobbs-Merrill) is hot off the press.

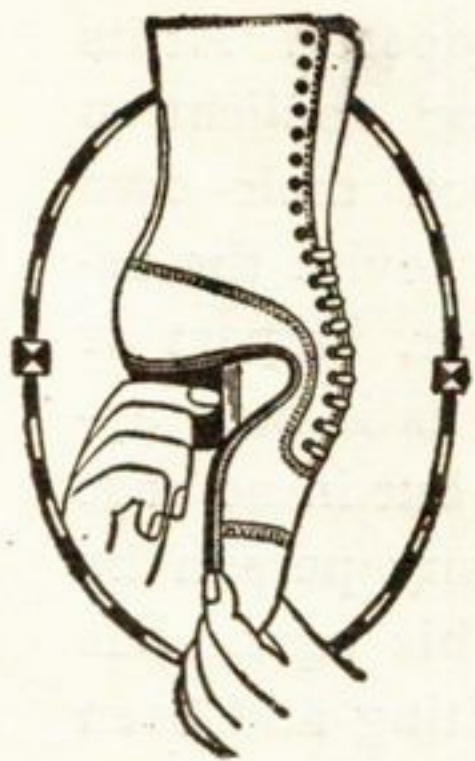

However much the action of the sturdy Dutchman who is the hero of the book may savor of foolhardiness, no charge of indiscretion can be laid at the door of its author. This Quick is no bungler. So sure as his name is now comparatively unknown except to the most thorough readers of the magazine public, so certain is it to be placed in the front rank before the elapsing of many months. Consider this recommendation:— it has plot, enough for six contemporary novels; it has character in abundance, of the sort that is bred of healthy experiences and orderly thought processes; it is wholly lacking in the species of propaganda that is the meat of the modern romanticist; its setting is the familiar background of the middle-west in the unfamiliar garb of the early fifties; its theme that of the colonization of the Iowa prairies.

"Vandamark's Folly" will never be what its publishers predict—a second "If Winter Comes." Where the latter

Are Your Shoes Flexible and Good-looking?

If not both flexible and good-looking, your shoes would perhaps please you more if they were Cantilever Shoes, which combine flexibility with modish shoe designing.

Cantilevers are so well proportioned that they fit your foot like an easy glove—and look as dressy. Their arches are flexible, concealing no metal like ordinary shoes. This flexibility of the Cantilever arch corresponds to the flexibility of your foot arch, which nature designed to flex as you walk.

Come and see the trim lines of Cantilever oxfords. Feel how comfortable they are when you slip into the right size. Made not only to look well, they harmonize so delightfully with the natural "action" of your foot that in Cantilever Shoes you can get the most fun out of walking and all the other enjoyments of springtime and summer.

the Lake View Woman's Club. Her "Historic Outline" of the Provinces of France, written at the request of the State chairman of literature in 1920, has been used by district clubs for a study program. During the two years of Mrs. Babize's administration, the membership of the Ninth District has increased from 775 to 1996.

An eighty-foot putting green, to be built by a professional and seeded by an expert, is about to be constructed on the grounds surrounding the home of Mrs. Hathaway Watson in Winnetka. Mrs. Watson is president of the Woman's Western Golf association, and a member of the Indian Hill club, and her purpose in constructing such a green lies in the fact that the rules of the Western Golf association forbid the presence of children on the courses unless accompanied by a member.

The North Shore Catholic Woman's League will hold its annual meeting at Sacred Heart Hall in Hubbard Woods, at one o'clock on Thursday, April 13.

The executive board of the New America Shop will meet Monday, April 10 at 1:30 p. m., Room 921, Fine Arts Building, Chicago.

set the thinking world agog with its startling vivisection of a remarkable man's mind, Vandamark will only serve to lubricate the machinery of sanity and genuine enjoyment. Some will see in this story of the early mid-west and its pioneers merely a historical record of a little greater merit than Churchill's "Crossing". Others will hail it as Main Street in a pleasurable guise. It is neither. Greater than the character of Mark Sabre, more real than the boy hero of the Crossing, and as true to type as any inhabitant of Gopher Prairie, is the picture of this blue-jeaned, tow-headed Dutch lad with honest buttermilk eyes, crying, fighting, driving his way along the Erie canal, hugging the worn shoe of his dead mother to his breast, saving his own manhood out of the degradation of the waterfront, and slowly plodding his way across the prairies in the wake of a schooner drawn by cows, to a marshy strip of Iowa farm.

"Prior to this time I had been courting the country; now I was to be united with it in that holy wedlock which binds the farmer to the soil he tills. Out of this black loam was to come my own flesh and blood, and the bodies, and I believe, in some measure, the souls of my children."

So says Jacob Vandamark, and no American will read such words without feeling a kindred thrill, binding him closer to the spirit of those early pioneers. Rich in the milk of human kindness, wholesome to the palate as freshly baked bread, and as nourishing to the mind is "Vandamark's Folly."

Dear Kiddie Nook:

I am looking forward to Easter with lots of pleasure, for I have just bought all my new clothes from you. Will you print the following tribute in your column?

I visited a shop one day. It was a mart so rare, reminding me of a garden fair, when flowers begin to push their way through beds of leafy mold, the wand'ring sun-rays tinting everything with a final touch of gold! The Store For Children, Kiddie Nook, is where I chanced this day to look. 'Twas filled with things for wear and play, refreshing, colorful and gay. I watched the children buying there, likeflowers in a garden rare, and knew I'd found the place to buy whatever best delights the eye!
