

MACHINE SHOP CRUISES A CITY

Dodge Roadster Carries Machine Shop

A Boston machinery salesman, looking for something new in the line of high-power salesmanship, has struck on the novel idea of mounting a complete machine shop attachment on the rear of a Dodge Brothers roadster. With it he goes on his daily round of calls, and the peculiar device is becoming a familiar sight in all the highways.

The rear of the Dodge Brothers roadster carries, among other apparatus, a grinding machine, which can be used in shops and garages for grinding pistons, valves, wrist pins, or for any kind of general machine work. Forty feet of wire is always carried, which may be plugged into an electric socket, so that immediate operation is possible almost everywhere.

Lee H. Campbell, the owner, is using the machine shop on wheels as an ingenious method of boosting his sales. He is now establishing dealers to buy the complete outfit, and they in turn will canvass the shops and garages. Mr. Campbell finds his Dodge Brothers roadster highly satisfactory in his selling and demonstrating work.

In many other lines of business as well, ingenious devices for selling and demonstrating various products have been attached to Dodge Brothers cars—which were chosen as a reliable and convenient means of transportation.

A PROCLAMATION

A proclamation making Tuesday, May 30, a state holiday was issued by the Governor of Illinois this week. The proclamation reads as follows:

STATE OF ILLINOIS

Executive Department

By the Governor of Illinois

A PROCLAMATION

To the People of Illinois, Greeting:

It is our great privilege, at an appointed time each year, to join in a national tribute of gratitude and affection to our soldier and sailor dead. The blue-clad heroes of the Civil War, soldiers and sailors of the War with Spain, and men of the great armies of the American Expeditionary Force lie in honored graves, at home and abroad. They gave their services and their lives for a united country, for humanity, for civilization. We mourn the valiant dead and deplore the great crises in our national life which required of them "the last full measure of devotion;" but we have a great national pride in their bravery and patriotism which have preserved to us, intact, the heritage of free institutions handed down by our fathers to be held as a sacred trust for our children and their children. Their gallant deeds, on land and sea, have ever maintained unsullied the honor of our great American Nation. Their hands have borne aloft, and raised high in the heavens, our starry banner of freedom as a symbol of courage, purity, and justice, and as a promise of liberty to the oppressed peoples of the earth.

Whereas, the laws of Illinois provide for the observance of the thirtieth day of May as a holiday:

Now, Therefore, I, Len Small, Governor of Illinois, do hereby appoint and designate Tuesday, the thirtieth day of May, 1922, to be celebrated throughout the State as Memorial Day, and I ask the cooperation of the people of Illinois with the Grand Army of the Republic, the United Spanish War Veterans, the American Legion, the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and their allied organizations in an appropriate observance of the day by garlanding with flowers and decorating with flags the graves of soldiers and sailors; and I further ask that in all communities there be held public memorial services and patriotic exercises in honor of our heroic dead.

In Witness Whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of Illinois to be affixed.

Done at the city of Waukegan, this eleventh day of May, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and twenty-two and of the State of Illinois, the one hundred and third.

LEN SMALL.

By the Governor:

Louis L. Emmerson,
Secretary of State.

Art and Free Will

Determinism robs art of its fundamental right to exist—of its autonomous expression. It sweeps the individual into the crowd and makes the crowd subservient to inflexible forces; it overlooks man's consciousness of his place in the universe; forgets his temperamental preferences and reduces him to a mechanism through which blind life operates as best it can to no conclusion—it takes no heed of the telology which gives art its glorious significance, its imperishable beauty.—Thomas Jewell Craven in "The Dial."
