

NEED SUBSCRIBERS FOR MUSIC SERIES

Appeal to Parents for Help in Music Enterprise

"Unless assistance is rendered in securing the 1,000 subscriptions for the series of Little Symphony concerts to be given at New Trier High school next year for the children and young people of the north shore, the promoters of this enterprise cannot proceed with their plans," says Mrs. Homer E. Cotton, supervisor of music at the High school.

"All the supervisors of music from Highland Park to Evanston are at work on this plan and expect the co-operation of the fathers and mothers of the children," Mrs. Cotton continues.

"Lovers of music must subscribe now," she emphasizes, in suggesting that parents might present a few subscriptions to the public schools to be given away to some deserving pupils who cannot afford tickets of their own.

The concerts will be played by twenty-five men of the Chicago Symphony orchestra under the direction of George Dasch. The series will be the basis for the Music Memory contest work for next year.

Subscription blanks may be secured by calling the New Trier High school, Winnetka 4, or writing to the music supervisors in the various north shore villages.

Short Stories Lead List of New Trier Prize "Comps"

The Williams prize contest for all forms of English composition, offered each year to the students of New Trier Township by Henry P. Williams of Glencoe, has brought forth seventy-seven contestants this spring, according to information from the school executive offices.

The number of compositions submitted this year is more than half again as many as were in the contest in 1921, it is said. These compositions were written by sixty-three students.

Short stories led the list with a total of forty-two. Poetry came second, totalling fifteen manuscripts. Next in order were essays, fourteen, and plays, six.

Mr. Preston Boyden of Winnetka presided and president Walter D. Scott of Northwestern University and Rev. George Craig Stewart gave very interesting speeches. An active interest in this new enterprise is hoped for, as it is just a North Shore association and a very worthy one.
