

NORTH SHORE N. U. ALUMNI HOLD RALLY

Banquet at Winnetka Woman's Club, Burn Candles

Candles were burned and the praises of Alma Mater sung in all parts of the world Friday, May 19, in celebration of Northwestern University Day by alumni. It was a renewal of the time-honored custom of lighting the tallow wick and singing again the old campus songs from Nanking, China, to Rio de Janeiro, Brazil; from points in India to New York, Chicago and St. Louis. Chicago alumni gathered both downtown and in suburban places to shout, sing and speak of "Good Old Northwestern."

President Walter Dill Scott framed the following telegram which went to Purple alumni clubs at numerous points:

"In the name of our common Alma Mater, I send you greetings on this, her day. We hope we may maintain a closer contact with one another that her inspiration may continue in us and that we may together serve the better."

Message Throughout World

Rev. George Craig Stewart of Evanston, liberal arts, '02, president of the general alumni association, also sent a message—one of congratulation upon the revitalization of Northwestern university spirit throughout the world.

In Chicago the celebration was opened by about 200 alumni who met Friday noon at luncheon at the Hamilton club. Dr. Allen B. Kavel, Northwestern university Medical School graduate, 1899, president of the Chicago Club of Northwestern university Men, hosts of the day, presided and speeches were made by President Scott, liberal arts, 1895, Judge Harry Olson, Northwestern Law School, 1891, and Charles Ward, secretary of the Evanston Chamber of Commerce, a liberal arts graduate. In the evening about fifty north shore-alumni met at the Winnetka Woman's club, at a dinner and candle-lighting frolic. Preston Boyden, a recent graduate of Northwestern Law school, presided and addresses were made by President Scott, Rev. George Craig Stewart and other alumni.

NEW TRIER SENIORS PRESENT 'DISRAELI'

"Disraeli," the Senior play to be presented June 3, by the students of New Trier High school, is rapidly rounding into form under the direction of Miss Stanwood. If early rehearsals are any indication of the finished product, this play will go down in the annals of this school as one of her greatest triumphs.

The cast is a well balanced one of "experienced amateurs" and the play promises to be one which will please an audience and hold its interest until the end.

The plot strays slightly from historical facts, but portrays the general political life and ambitions of the famous statesman, and the interest centers around one of his greatest achievements, the purchase of the Suez Canal, which resulted in the advancement of the British Empire and brought to the Queen the title of Empress of India, one of the dearest dreams of Disraeli, the Premier.
