

BLIND EX-SOLDIERS ANXIOUS FOR READING

Chicago Chapter, Red Cross,
Helps Afflicted

"Something to read. This is the need of the blinded ex-service men," said Leo Cummings, at a meeting held under the auspices of the department of Braille, Chicago Chapter, American Red Cross, June 1.

Mr. Cummings lost his eyesight just before the war, and he considers it the greatest luck of his life that he was admitted to "Evergreen," the government school for our blinded ex-service men, located at Baltimore, Md. He received the training that is transforming 500 blinded ex-service men into economic and social assets. Mr. Cummings believes that if any good thing can come out of the war it will be that the civilian blind will profit by what has been learned in the rehabilitating of the military blind.

Hungry for Literature.

He praised the work that has been accomplished by Miss Madeleine S. Loomis, volunteer director of the department of Braille, Chicago Chapter, American Red Cross and the transcribers who are turning in many sheets of current literature each week. "They are hungry for it," said Mr. Cummings, "and they need it more than people who have their sight."

Miss Loomis explained that the expense of machine made books and the fact that hand made books are more easily read by the beginner, the need for Braille transcribers is pressing.

Marquis Eaton, Chairman of the Chicago Chapter, said that during the war the women of Cook, Lake and Du Page counties sent over-seas each week, work that had a cash value of $180,000 and he knew that this spirit of service was not lost, but was on call when there was something big enough and strong enough to warrant it."

MISSOULA AWAITING PRESIDENT HARDING

President to Address Editorial Association

Hotel reservations have been made at Missoula, Montana, for President Harding who is expected to address the National Editorial Association's annual convention to be held in Missoula July 19-20-21. Chairman Thomas of the Montana entertainment committee is going ahead with all preparations for the reception of the nation's chief executive, on the assumption that Congress will adjourn in time to enable the President to carry out his program of stopping off at Missoula while en route to Alaska.

If permission can be obtained from the Department of Interior, there will be novelty added to the greeting of President Harding by representatives of all Indian tribes in Montana. Chief Two Guns White Calf of the Glacier National Park Blackfoot tribe wants to lead this delegation of tribal chiefs to Missoula with the idea of giving the Great White Father a genuine American reception. That there is a strong desire upon the part of newspaper editors from every State in the Union to meet President Harding is expressed in the large number of reservations already made to join the special train which will leave Chicago July 9, on its journey to Montana. The itinerary, besides including stops in the agricultural sections of Montana and in twenty or more Montana towns, calls for a two days' tour of Glacier and Yellowstone National Parks and a trip up Flathead Lake on the way from Missoula to Kalispell and Glacier National Park.

FAITHFUL CURATOR HONORED AT GARRETT

Dedicate Memorial Fountain to "Daddy" Mars

A surprise party for Robert R. Mars, known to the campus as "Daddy Mars" for 31 years curator of Garrett Biblical institute, came shortly after noon, yesterday, in the way of the presentation of an everflowing fountain with a tablet dedicating the fountain to him.

Piano selections by Eldon Ramige, a member of the graduating class started the program. The Rev. Almer M. Pennewell, of Covenant church, represented the alumni, and told of the significance of the everflowing waters. Walter F. Day, a member of the class which graduated an hour later gave the dedication speech, telling of the love and affection for Daddy Mars, which has extended over a period of 31 years, by generations of biblical students, and of the memory of him which is hallowed in all parts of the world.

He was then led from the throne he had been installed upon and shone a bronze tablet, formally dedicating the fountain to him.

The fountain is just opposite the entrance in Dormitory. It is beautifully worked in marble, and the cost was defrayed by subscription among the students. The ceremony took place just before convocation, and was arranged as a complete surprise to the faithful curator

SWIFT WILL GIVES $100,000 TO N. U.

Benefactions of Family Over Half Million

On being interviewed in reference to the announcement in the press today that the late Mrs. Gustavus F. Swift had left a bequest of $100,000 to Northwestern University, William A. Dyche, Business Manager, stated that he had no knowledge of this other than that contained in the newspapers.

He continued, saying that, Mrs. Swift had been a generous contributor to Northwestern University; that her gifts heretofore made had exceeded $400,000, most of them being for endowment of Swift Hall of Engineering or the College of Engineering of Northwestern university; that the total gifts of the Swift family to the University were in excess of half a million dollars.

Church Bids Farewell to Wolsteds, Missionaries

Members and friends of the Winnetka Congregational church last Sunday evening accorded Rev. and Mrs. Clarence E. Wolsted an impressive farewell reception at the church upon the eve of their leaving the village to take up mission work in India as special ministers of the local church.

The reception was held at the instance of the Young People's club of the church, who invited all the members of the church and interested friends to join in wishing the young couple Godspeed.

Rev. and Mrs. Paul R. Reynolds, who proceeded to China last summer, are also special foreign ministers of the Winnetka Congregational church.

How Did They Do It?

DO you ever wonder how the ancient folks got along without the comforts and conveniences of today?

Without window-glass, without tooth brushes, without automobiles, without soap, without telephones, breakfast foods, stoves, and virtually all the items we consider bare necessities of life.

And have you ever wondered at the part advertising has played in the world's development? It has made and is making the world better housed, better fed, better dressed. It has increased the world's capacity for things that elevate, improve and idealize the important business of living. It is a big, vital force in fostering convenient and comfortable life.

Home! Can you imagine your own empty of advertised products?

Advertising is an authentic and essential guide to the markets of the world. Without its direction you lose much, and overlook much.

Don't fail to read the advertisements you find in this newspaper. Follow their guidance.

They will prove invaluable to you
