

POSTOFFICE FORCE GOES A PICNICKING

Incidentally Carriers Hand Lacing to Clerks

Postmaster Elmer E. Adams rounded up the clerks, carriers and special delivery boys and their families Sunday for a basket picnic at River Side park in the Forest Preserve.

The feature of the first annual post-office outing was a ball game in which the clerks lined up against the sturdy carriers. Volt, hurler for the clerks, recognizing the fact that the carriers were good walkers, did not deny them the privilege of asserting their prowess in that regard, with the result that the street men walked in with a 3 to 1 victory.

Adams Plays First

Dehmlow hurled effectively for the carriers, granting the clerks not a peek-in. Postmaster Adams held down first base for the clerks. The line-up was as follows: Clerks: R. Runnfeldt, lf.; J. Uttenreuther, cf.; J. Carpenter, 3b; R. Thorsen, rf; H. Voltz, p.; J. Schinler, c.; Joe Braun, 2b; George Walkey, ss; E. E. Adams, 1b. Carriers: E. Siegle, 3b; L. Schaefer, c; G. Margul, 2b; P. Dely, 1b; M. Thorsen, rf; L. Knackstadt, lf; E. Lips, cf; A. Wylie, ss; C. Dehmlow, p. Umpires, Olsen and Ellis.

Despite the fact that one of the umpires was a brother-in-law of one of the clerks, and the other a nephew of the postmaster, the clerks failed to get the breaks of the game.

Honor Guests

Guests at the outing were Mr. and Mrs. R. Essery and Mr. and Mrs. Foster of Melrose Park. Mr. Foster is foreman in the mailing division of the Chicago postoffice.

Dr. Everett left Saturday for Waukazoo where he will spend the summer.

Wedding Bells Chime Even in The Busy Mart

The bells you heard early this week in the vicinity of Magistrate C. T. Northrop's offices at 556 Center street, were the chimings attendant upon the annual procession of June brides and their timid escorts.

Monday was an exceptional day for "Judge" Northrop. At daybreak the caretaker at the offices was giving the place just a bit more attention than usual, and by early afternoon one noted that something unusual was to take place.

It did.

They were Fred Newton and Rose Cejna of Chicago; and Robert L. Pioso and Roslyn Davidson, also of Chicago. Happy Days!

The Walter Shattucks have gone to their summer home in Wisconsin.
