THE BUDDING FINANCIER

The moneymaking sense is early manifest in the American youth, if it is present at all. Environment seems to make little difference, for circumstance and opportunity reveal themselves to eyes that see. For instance: There was the small boy who was given a bar of chocolate for the performance of some small favor for an adult.

The place was a public institution where there was the minimum of money in the hands of those about, but only a minute was required for the energetic lad to dispose of his gift for the usual sale price. The pride with which he reported the exchange to the donor showed that he felt no compunction in thus disposing of a gift. There was only a complete satisfaction with the transaction and a determination to turn a penny upon other occasions when a happy chance should put into his hands something that possessed a marketable value. When that boy grows up he will be able to show achievement in life, stand out above his fellows in about the proportion that his quality of thrift stood out among those others about him, none of whom had more money, but lacked his willingness to sacrifice the pleasure of a sweetmeat to the turning of an honest penny.

SAFETY FOR WORKERS

State troops are to be provided for the safety of the men who volunteer to keep moving the wheels of the machinery in the shops of the railroads, wheels whose turning the striking men are suspected of being determined to stop. It is a promise that must be fulfilled, and such assurance of safety given that there shall be the minimum of interruption of the business and industrial progress that has but just set in.

Governor Small complained that his required presence away from the capital prevented his giving the service that should have been given the non-union miners in the Southern Illinois coal fields. He has no such excuse for failure to provide for the safety of those who are ready to rely upon the acceptance by the government of the responsibility of giving them security to work in the deserted shops. Nothing will tend more to reinstate him in the good opinion of the public of the state than a quick response to the present demand that is before him.

DEPENDING UPON PUBLIC OPINION

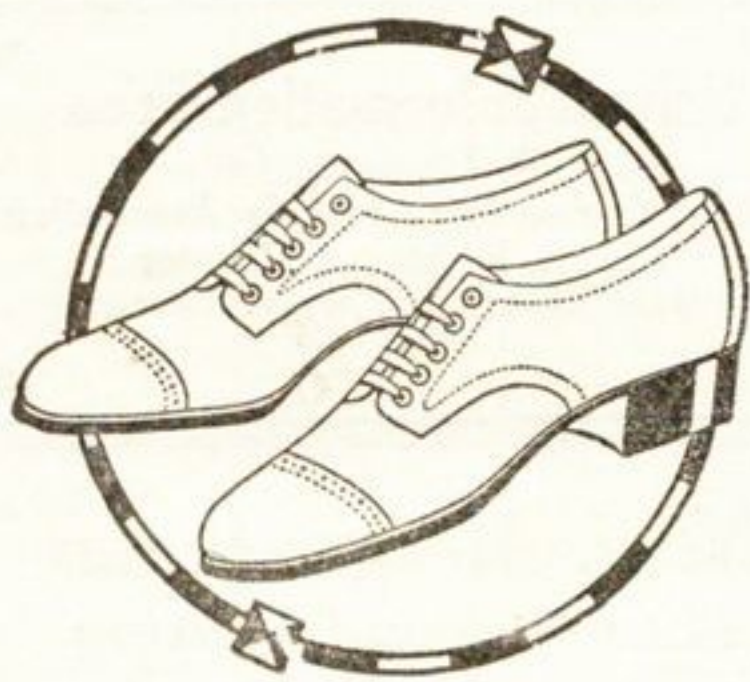

The striking miners in Herrin and the district in that vicinity openly declare that there will be no effort made to punish those who participated in the revolting and shameful deeds about the mines there. They rely upon the public opinion that prevails there for the protection of which they boast.

It may quite possibly be true that the general public opinion in the immediate vicinity of the mines does approve of the measures that were taken to keep men from working at the tasks which they themselves had refused. But certainly public opinion in the state as a whole is not so perverted from a proper sense of justice and right and would uphold a policy of bringing to account those who both tortured and killed innocent human beings whose sole offense was trying to do work that they had been hired to do. That state wide public opinion should not only be trusted to protect authorities that strive to perform their obvious duty, but should compel the officers of the law to bring into the courts those who have done murder.

A NON-ESSENTIAL CITIZEN

The average pedestrian will be glad to add to the list of non-essential citizens, the careless gardener who turns his sprinkler over the sidewalk and then glares at you if you walk over his lawn to avoid spray. Besides being a waste of city water at a time when the pressure is none too strong such a practice is in bad taste. Incidentally there is an ordinance against it stating "sprinklers shall not be placed and left in such position as to throw water on pedestrians passing by on public walks". The

Summer Fatigue

The nervous irritation, caused by badly shaped shoes, is a constant drain which will detract from your pleasure now and may result in a serious breakdown later. For health and efficiency, wear the Cantilever Shoe.

It is patterned on the lines of the foot. The arch of the shoe hugs the curve of the instep and provides restful support for the foot. Well-set heel and natural inner sole line distribute the weight properly, without strain.

And the shank is flexible! Instead of checking the circulation, it encourages good circulation, correcting burning and perspiring feet. Instead of binding the muscles, it GIVES with the foot. This freedom to exercise strengthens the muscles upholding the arch. In this comfortable and healthful way, Cantilevers correct and prevent flat foot.

Commissioner of Public Works has the right to cut off the water to habitual violators of this rule. If the police were instructed to enforce this regulation, property owners would soon become convinced that growing grass on cement sidewalks is an unprofitable occupation and the ordinary pedestrian would have one less hazard to his daily run.

Tracing History of Cabbage.
The Romans are credited with introducing cabbage into England, and the soldiers of Cromwell carried it to Scotland and made it popular there, as they did also in Ireland, according to tradition.

Farther Than That.
A writer on "Censoring the Movies" says that "a kiss is chaste for ten feet" in Pennsylvania. "I have often sprinted much further for one," writes J. M. in Boston Transcript.
