HOLD FRUITFUL MEET

Visit New Offices in Brown
Building

One of the most enthusiastic and fruitful sessions of the New Trier Commercial association was held at the Wilmette Village hall Monday evening of this week when the important topic of discussion related to preliminary arrangements for New Trier Day, the annual township outing given by the business men of the north shore.

Want Mine War Ended
Following completion of the New Trier Day business, however, the association found time for other matters, among which was the adoption of resolutions addressed to Governor Small in which it was requested that the state executive take immediate steps to submit the dispute between the local miners and operators to arbitration. Should such measures fail, the resolutions advised the summoning of a special session of the state legislature for the purpose of repealing the Miners' Act in order to permit the state to take over the operation of the coal mines.

The meeting adjourned, the members proceeding in a group to the Brown building, where a thorough inspection was made of the new association offices. This office, in charge of Miss Ruth Forberg, of Winnetka, provides information as to credits for the members of the association. It has proved highly successful and has been received with great satisfaction by the business men.

Celebrate a Birthday

The evening terminated with a visit to the refreshment emporium of John Pappajohn. Fortunately for the members, John J. Moran, representative in the association of the Chicago, North Shore and Milwaukee Electric railway, celebrated a birthday Monday, all of which prompted a general distribution of choice Havanas.

The next meeting of the association is scheduled for Monday, August 14, and will be held at the Wilmette Village hall.

Every business and professional man in New Trier Township is eligible to membership in the New Trier Commercial association.

Well, Girls, It's All Settled About Our 'Handsome Sink'

"Isn't this a wonderful old world," she sighed.

"Yes," he crooned, as he stepped on the gas.

"I'm the happiest person in the world," said she.

"Me to," quoth he.

"We'll never have any troubles, will we?" from her.

"Not a chance," was the response—more stepping on the gas.

"Up to the curb, Barney Oldfield," came a rude command from alongside the road. Whered'yathinkyar, on a speedway?" it added.

They were Mr. and Mrs. William Reynolds Singleton. The wedding had been a quiet affair at the home of the bride, Miss Frances Van Wie. The honeymoon journey, via the trusty Buick (vintage of the past decade), was well in progress and here they were in Kenosha—and pinched. Talk about troubles.

"Sink" had it all planned out. "Quiet wedding, no annoying friends and a not too expensive, motor tour through the incomparable Wisconsin forests primeval.

"Takes a lot of coin these days", he had argued.

"It cost me $20 and costs," the bridegroom later confided in a friend. "That's about three days' expenses. That's why we're back so soon."

The wedding took place June 28. The bride and groom are now at home in Englewood. They expect to locate in Evanston soon.

Mr. Singleton an official of the North Shore Combustion company with offices on Electric Place, Wilmette, is generally conceded to be the handsomest business man this side of the silver screen.

Mrs. Wallace Chickering, 770 Rosewood avenue, who is vacationing at Ashland, New Hampshire, expects to return about August 1.

Mr. and Mrs. Willoughby Walling of Winnetka returned this week from Goodman, Wis. —

Tuesday, August 1, will be open day at Glenview Country club for the Woman's Western Golf association.
