Study Tax Situation

The North Shore Real Estate Board, one of the most influential civic organizations on the north shore, instituted a township-wide campaign almost a year ago having as its purpose the clearing of property titles, on delinquent properties so that they might be purchased by responsible persons who would keep up the taxes and special assessments.

The desired result of such a campaign is tax reduction, realters explain. When the campaign started there were more than 1,000 pieces of property in New Trier township on which no taxes and no special assessments were being paid, the properties being permitted to go as delinquent. Accordingly, it is pointed out, other properties in the township are taxed correspondingly higher in order to raise the required sums. A committee of the board has been investigating the tax situation and is expected to have some valuable information for the meeting next Monday evening.

Officers of the organization are: H. H. Brown, president; F. B. Thomas, vice president; E. E. Smith, treasurer; W. G. Staccy, secretary.

Need More Furnishings For Teachers' Home

Now that most Winnetka families have returned to the village from their summer vacation trips, it is thought timely to repeat the appeal issued several weeks ago for household articles to fit up the prospective teachers' home in the new building at Gage street and Linden avenue.

The request made by a committee from the Parent-Teacher association has met with encouraging response but the fact that so many householders were away from the village led the wait until school opening time before renewing the request.

In addition to the new Crilly home on Sheridan road two residences and three garages bring the building permit total for the past week in Winnetka up to $67,350. B. F. Langworthy was granted a permit to build a frame residence in Winnetka Lake Bluffs, 732 Bryanst avenue. It is to cost $9,000. W. R. Nelson will be the builder.

G. C. Erickson was granted a permit for a frame and shingle house at 995 Greenwood avenue. It is estimated that the cost will be $7,000. A frame garage for L. J. H. Bouscaren will cost $1,000; it is to be built at 646 Prospect. J. C. Garland was granted a permit for a $150 garage, to be built at 198 Forest avenue.

> The Dream Girl is again in her home port after a summer of thrilling experiences. She arrived at Wilmette harbor early Sunday morning after a twenty-one hour run from Algoma, manned by her owner, Charles A. Kinney, Director of Shopwork in the Winnetka schools, and David Delay.

The Dream Girl left Winnetka in June with 15 Winnetka boys aboard, bound for Adventure Island camp. The trip northward was without thrills until the party was four hours off Sturgeon Bay canal, when a severe nor'easter blew up, and for four hours the little craft was tossed about. The night was so intensely black that the powerful light at the entrance to the canal was picked up at a distance of twenty-four miles. For nearly three hours this light, hardly more than a speck in the horizon for half of that time, was the only evidence the boys had that their course was leading to a busy at their studies. safe harbor. The remainder of the night was spent in the harbor of refuge at Sturgeon Bay.

RALPH AND HIS UNCLE JOIN 'HOLE-IN-ONE'

The 'Hole-in-One club' is a thriving organization with new members added to its roster almost every day.

But it remains for a north shore Adventure Island Boys Back family to hold the distinction of having more than one member in the notable golfing circle.

Reference is to Ralph Wanger, 1155 Chatfield road, Winnetka, and Roy Weil, Sheridan road, Glencoe, bearing the relation of a nephew and uncle, respectively.

Ralph achieved his 'hole-in-one' at the Northland Country club, Duluth, age, was the third golfer to win this distinction at Northland this season. Mr. Weil made his "hole-in-one" recently at the Glencoe course.

Ralph is a southpaw golfer, that is, he swings the clubs from the left side. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. David Wanger.

All Women Golfers of Winnetka Urged to Enter Play at Playfield Tuesday

GO OVER NINE HOLES

cent Tournament Winners

Women golfers of Winnetka will be seen in considerable numbers on the Skokie Playfield course next week in the play of the Women's tournament, announcement of which was made last week.

Officials of the Playfield association are desirous of making this tournament one of the outstanding features of the golfing season at the Community course and invite every woman golfer in the village to enter the qualifying rounds Tuesday morning, September 12.

Equal Chance for All

Women who do not consider themselves even fair players are urged, nevertheless, to enter the tournament, as officials explain all the scores turned in by women players here average above 60 for nine holes, so that there is to be no clash with experts who "show up" the field. The system of arranging handicaps makes it possible for every woman golfer to have an equal chance at the attractive awards. No great stars have been uncovered to date and the play should be quite close.

Women who expect to enter the tournament have been requested to leave their score cards in the box at The public schools teaching staff tached to the bulletin board at the caps on the basis of their scores in The new Skokie school is ready to the qualifying rounds on Tuesday.

Have Week for Play

Playfield officials explain further that it will not be necessary to play ents may make arrangements to play any other day during the week.

Only nine holes will be played in the tournament. Many women golfers do not care to play over the full 18 holes and the Playfield association feels that the entry list will be much larger if the shorter play is adopted.

Play for Park Board Cup

The qualifying round of the Winnetarrives 8:40; south to Sunset and ka Park Board cup was played last week-end at Playfield with 66 cards turned in. The lowest 32 cards have been paired and will start play in the first round Saturday and Sunday of this week. The pairings have been posted on the bulletin board at the Playfield and at Adams pharmacy. There will be five weeks in which to play in this event, but the golfers who can do so are asked to play off their . matches as soon as possible in order to expedite the play.
