

TELLS NEAR EAST STORY AT CHURCH

C. F. Jackman Explains Need of Great Relief Unit

The officers of the Winnetka Congregational church believe it the plain duty of all to rally to the support of the Near East Relief work in a time of great emergency and have arranged to have C. F. Jackman tell its story at the 11 o'clock services tomorrow morning. Mr. Jackman is an attorney who has recently been traveling in the Near East and has been in all the places which, because of recent military and political events, are now on the front pages of our newspapers, and can give accurate and vivid information of this world crisis such as few could supply.

Never was a great humanitarian institution faced with a stronger appeal than that which confronts the "Near East Relief" today. Never was a great relief organization better organized to respond to the appeal than is the Near East. Incorporated by Act of Congress, having on its national committee such men as William H. Taft, Charles Evans Hughes, Henry Morgenthau, and Elihu Root, possessed of a trained corps of workers, inspired and inspiring by reason of good work already done, the Near East Relief appeals again to the public for help to meet the monumental needs created by the present political upheaval as the Turk once more pushes into Europe. The organization has an enviable record of tact and sagacity. It has kept itself free from all political meddling, and won the confidence of all by the efficiency of its care of over 100,000 children in nearly 200 orphanages.

Such tragic events as the destruction of Smyrna have increased its responsibilities many fold.

BUILDING PERMITS AT $95,000 MARK IN WEEK

Permits for the construction of buildings with a combined estimated cost of more than $95,000 were granted at the village hall during the past week.

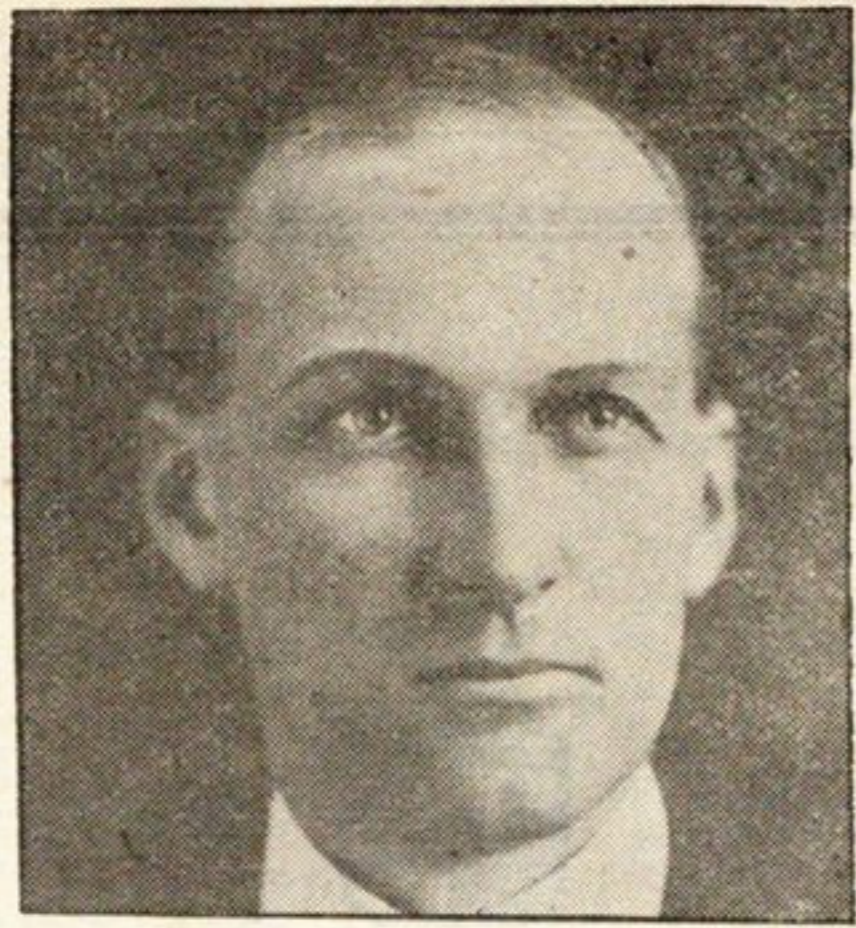

The largest construction contemplated is the $55,000 addition to the Country Day school, work on which has already begun. The next largest permit was granted to Frank G. Lane to build a two-story brick veneer residence at 159 Fuppler Lane. The estimated cost of the residence is $16,000.

At 1034 Starr street, H. S. Marshall will erect a $15,000 two-story brick house with a garage attached. Another permit was granted to Mrs. Anna M. Yerkes to build a $10,000 residence at 1422 Scott avenue. Permits were also granted to Albert Benz and G. M. Adams for the construction of private garages.

FIVE HUNDRED NORTH SHORE TEACHERS MEET

Approximately 500 teachers from North Shore towns attended the institute held Tuesday at the New Trier high school. Several speakers from Chicago, Evanston, Springfield, and other towns discussed educational subjects, the rendition of the program being in charge of E. Walker of district 6, Evanston.

WHY HE ADVERTISES IN THE TALK

Wm. T. Wehrstedt

"Why do I Advertise in The Winnetka Talk?" William T. Wehrstedt, proprietor of the Winnetka Motor company, meditated in response to that query put by the editor.

"Well, I believe The Winnetka Talk is the one medium that is read constantly by Winnetka residents, both with reference to news matter and advertising. I believe The Talk reaches a greater number of villagers than any other local publication. Also, I believe that continuous and consistent advertising pays."

Suppose There Were No Stores
In Winnetka

No drug store to fill your prescriptions, no market to furnish your groceries or meat, no hardware store to send over a shovel or broom?

What an inconvenient place Winnetka would be! The fact that you have high-grade stores in Winnetka is one of the reasons why Winnetka has such an enviable reputation as a suburban community. Our local stores justly arouse the pride of every Winnetkan.

But some of our residents do not take full advantage of the benefits offered by local merchants. Take hardware for instance. You'll find just as complete a line of high-grade merchandise in our store as you'll find in any downtown hardware store—and at prices that are no higher—in many cases less than you would pay in the downtown store.

Why go twenty miles to buy anything in hardware when you can phone us and have the same thing in twenty minutes? And probably at a saving in cost.

We are here to serve Winnetka people. No order is too small to command our most prompt and courteous attention. No order is so large that it warrants your taking it downtown. Come in and look over our line if you haven't already done so.
