Roses, palms and ferns, lit with dozens of white tapers, decorated St. Luke's church in Evanston, for the marriage of Miss Elizabeth Scofield Dafter, daughter of Dr. Emma Tyler Dafter, and Nuel Dinsmore Belnap last evening. Dr. George Craig Stewart officiating. At the Horace Armstrong home, at 365 Sheridan road, in Winnetka, where the reception took place following the ceremony, masses of spring flowers were used.

The bride's gown of white canton crepe-brocaded in velvet was fashioned in midcentury style with a tight bodice and extremely full skirt. Her court train was of the same material, and her veil of Brussels lace was held by sprays of orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of white orchids, sweet peas and lilies of the valley.

Miss Margaret Goodman, the maid of honor, wore silver lace draped over brocaded cloth of silver, and a head band of silver leaves. Mrs. John W. McPherrin, matron of honor, wore brocaded cloth of silver caught in a front drape with an ornament of green crystals. The bridesmaids were in frocks of varying shades of georgette crepe draped over silver brocade, with girdles and head bands of silver roses and leaves. Miss Helen Whitehill, was in light rose, Miss Justine Dickson in leaf green and Miss Alice Lovell in deep rose. They carried green orchids and spring flowers. The two little flower girls were in white organdy frocks. Mary Elizabeth Armstrong's smocked in green and Peggy Greene's in rose. Their hair was bound in ribbons of corresponding tints. Junior Alton, in a white silk suit with broad lace ruffles at the collar and cuffs, carried the ring on a white satin cushion. Dr. Dafter, in black velvet, wore a corsage bouquet of orchids and lilies of the valley, and Mrs. Sadie A. Belnap, mother of the groom, wore black satin heavily beaded in jet, with a similar bouquet.

Charles Hough was Mr. Belnap's best man, and the ushers were Roy Belnap, his brother, John W. McPherrin, Hawley Smith and J. G. White. Mr. and Mrs. Belnap will be at home after March 1, at 1110 Maple ave., Evanston.

Golf Is Made First Class Sport at Northwestern U.

By a vote of the athletic committee of Northwestern university, it is announced by Dana M. Evans, athletic director, that golf has been placed among the regularly recognized college sports at that institution and the "N" will be awarded in golf at the close of the season the same as it goes to baseball, basketball and the players at other games. Director Evans has engaged J. B. Sloane, professional golf player and coach, to teach Northwestern men and women students the fine points of the game. Coach Sloane is about to start work and has an indoor golf cage erected at Patten gym on the ground floor. The indications now are that golf will have about 100 Purple students making ready this winter for the big doings to come next spring and summer.

Practice started Tuesday, January 23, and Coach Sloane is enthusiastic. He says that many Northwestern students because of previous golfing experience are in shape to perfect themselves to an unusual degree at the grand old game.

"Northwestern is well situated for golfing," he added. "Once we get our classes going and spring weather comes along, we can have the students out on some green playing a regular game. Evanston has many golfing grounds in its vicinity and students should have no difficulty in obtaining practice without sacrifice to their scholastic work. We have some excellent material here and Northwestern will be heard from later."

The North Shore Catholic Woman's League will meet Thursday, February 1, at the Winnetka Woman's club. Mrs. J. A. Campbell, president of the Tenth District Federation, will be the principal speaker of the afternoon.
