

"Gloom-Chasers" Sent to Veterans in Hospitals

"Gloom chasers" are being provided for tray patients in the government and the contract hospitals, each week. The work is being done by fifty Junior Red Cross auxiliaries and everyone from the kindergarten to the most dignified 8th grader has a share in it.

There are more than 1,157 varieties of surprises—gun drop men, lollipop dolls, lentils growing out of egg shells, jokes wrapped up in capsules, fancy baskets of flowers and notes printed in wobbly letters by children too young to send messages of cheer, addressed to "A hero," or "A buddy." These surprises are placed on the trays on stormy days, and make the bed-ridden men realize that they have hundreds of friends among the school children.

Kids' Clothes to Mark Vagabond Costume Dance

Kids' togs will be in order Saturday evening, April 14, when the Vagabond dance orchestra stages its Baby party at Odd Fellow's hall, Wilmette.

This costume affair will be unique in dance circles in that the dancers will be required to appear garbed as in the days "way back when." An award of a beautiful silver loving cup will go to the most effectively attired dancer.

The Distinguishing Characteristic of the modern mortician is the ability to cope with any situation that may come up in the performance of his duties.

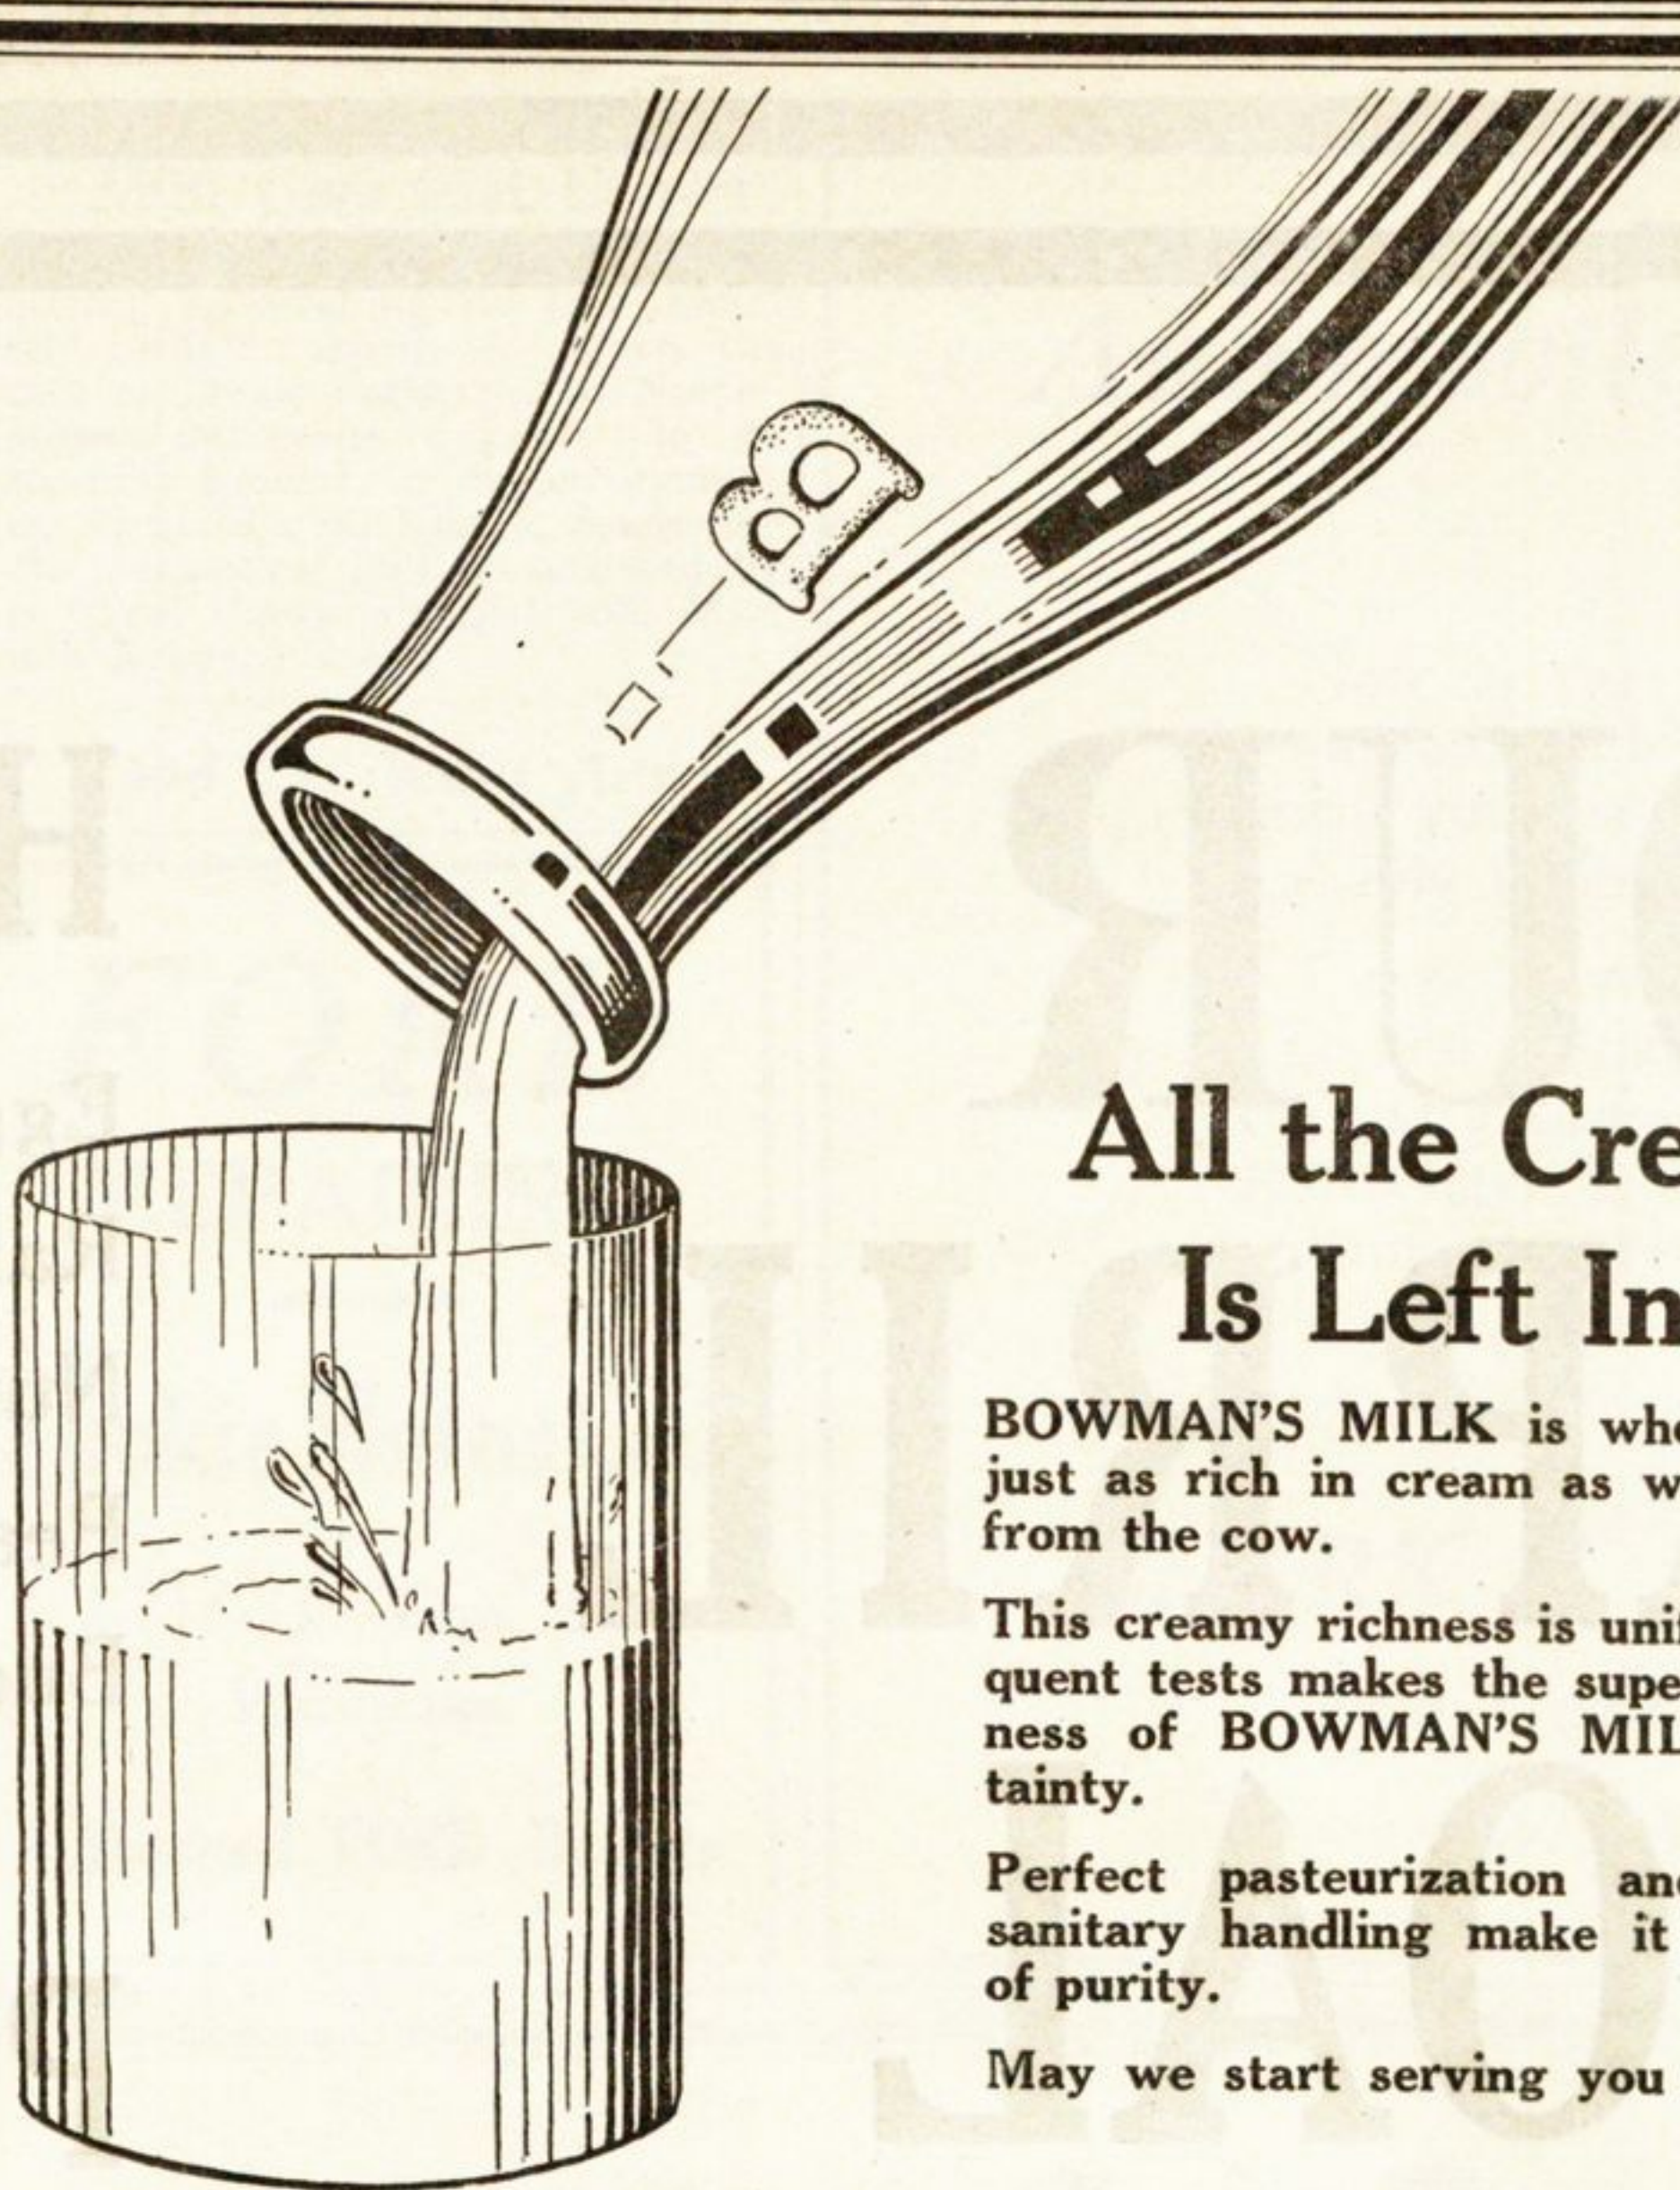

The funeral director of today is a highly skilled professional man rendering a much more comprehensive and complete service than did the "undertaker" of yester years.
