

HISTORY MADE REAL IN CHILDREN'S PLAY

History becomes real by living it, not by reading about it. In no way can we enter into the spirit of the past generations as by playing the characters of influential men of history.

In order to make the growth of our country real in the minds of the children in Mr. Ostergaard's sixth grade in the Horace Mann school, the children acted out, with the assistance of Miss Douglas Whitehead, supervisor of dramatics in the Winnetka schools, that story of our country which deals with the Louisiana Purchase.

The play, entitled "The Largest Real Estate Deal ever Made," was given before a large audience of fellow pupils and parents in the Horace Mann Assembly room last week.

Due in a large measure to the excellent coaching of Miss Whitehead and Mr. Ostergaard, the children were so familiar with the subject and entered into their parts so realistically that the whole performance had an air of professional finish. Even the spectators forgot that they were in make-believe land.

With a few screens and simple costuming the children gave an excellent portrayal of the different characters. Monroe, Livingston, the polished French minister, and the dainty little French maid, were excellent. These parts were played by Martin Cassell, Betty Barber, Margaret Belote and Jane Barr.

Expert Cleaner and Dyer Establishes in Winnetka

A. W. Zengeler, cleaner and dyer of Lake Forest, has purchased the Johnson interests at 810 Elm street, Winnetka, where he will continue the business.

Mr. Zengeler is said to be not only highly competent, but actually an expert in the cleaning and dyeing line, having been "born and raised in the business" in Chicago where his father was proprietor of one of the first cleaners and dyers establishments.

For the past 20 years, Mr. Zengeler has conducted his own plant in Lake Forest, considered one of the most modernly equipped establishments on the north shore.

Woman's Club

A meeting of the Art and Literature Committee was held at the Woman's club on April 5, Mrs. Willoughby Walling, presiding.

It was announced that the Camp Fire Girls would have a food sale at Community House on Saturday, April 7, the proceeds of the sale to be used in helping to furnish their room in the new Community House. Mrs. Chickering announced that Dr. Mary E. Wooley, president of Mount Holyoke college would speak at the Skokie school on Wednesday, April 11.

Mrs. Ernest Ballard told of the drive now on to raise funds for the Infant Welfare society of Chicago.

Mrs. Lawrence Howe, vice-president of the Winnetka Center is chairman of the finance and is in charge of the drive. Your contributions may be sent to Mrs. Howe, Mrs. Bartlett or any member of the committee which includes Mrs. Ballard and Mrs. Morris K. Wilson.

Mrs. Edwin E. Brown, chairman of the Revision committee submitted her recommendations to be voted upon at the next club meeting.

The Drama Study club will give a play under the direction of Mrs. Dickinson and Miss Grover, entitled "The Truth" by Clyde Fitch, on the evening of April 27. There will be dancing later in the evening.

Mrs. Vennema, chairman of the Art and Literature committee introduced the speaker of the afternoon, Mrs. Pauline Palmer, one of Chicago's best painters. Her subject was "Early American Art." She mentioned Gilbert Stuart and A. P. Healey as our early painters followed by Chase, Walter Sherlock and Duveneck, all great men and told amusing incidents about Whistler and others. Both Whistler and Sargent were American painters who deserted us for London thus depriving us of two great men. Mrs. Palmer touched upon the two schools now opposing each other, the Radical and Conservative, and as the juries are mixed, much that is unusual and freakish creeps into our exhibitions.

The loan collection was greatly enjoyed. Tea was served by the following hostesses: Mrs. Arthur Coffin, Mrs. Heyliger de Windt, Mrs. A. Montague Ferry and Mrs. Victor Cunningham.

Mrs. Reid L. Parker returned to her home in Grosse Park, Mich., on Thursday after a short visit at the home of Mrs. Donald H. Jeffris, 811 Bryant avenue. Mrs. Jeffris has just recently returned from a visit with her parents in Janesville, Wis.
