ADVERTISERS

We appreciate a man who shows good judgment. That's what a merchant shows when he gets a lease on the corner of two busy streets, or when he uses full-page space for his advertisements. Since January 1, 1923, the Hubbard Woods Lumber and Coal company has used six pages.

We are going to have a new tea room in town. The Lilac Tea Room and Bake Shop is advertising Opening Day this week. The new proprietor, Mrs. Erickson, has a reputation for making good home made pies, we are told.

Miss Herbst's Gift Shop is moving to new quarters in the New McGuire & Orr building on Lincoln avenue. Her many friends and customers will be glad to see her in her new and larger quarters and the strangers in town will all stop and look at her window display, according to Miss Herbst.

The Hubbard Woods garage is running an honest-to-goodness sale on high class tires this week. The prices are very attractive too, we are told.

Brandl Brothers have some coal news that is real news this week. In fact it is so important that they are taking a full-page ad to tell the public about it.

Taylor's hardware store is advertising all the necessary articles for Clean-up week and for the new lawn this spring, also for the home garden.

Rasmesen's paint store is advertising paint brushes, and everything needed for the spring clean-up or for house cleaning.

The Winnetka Exide Battery Service company is advertising 8-hour and 48-hour battery service. For those that prefer the quick service the 8-hour service was installed. For those who like the 48-hour service the Exide station is still maintaining the old method of charging batteries.

Who Started It Anyway?
Sure Made a Nice Story

That formal reception held at the A. N. Burnham home was reported with faithful adherence to fact in every respect but one. It was a lovely story, Mrs. Burnham's comments, but the funny part of the whole thing is, it had no basis in fact. The Burnhams did not celebrate their wedding anniversary with a formal reception. There was no reception whatsoever.

Matter of fact, Mrs. Burnham is the excellent authority for the information that she spent last Wednesday darning stockings with a friend.

The Burnhams reside in that attractive "Log Cabin" home on North avenue.

Garage Fire Threatens W. C. McNitt Residence

What might have been a serious fire at the home of William C. McNitt, 957 Pine avenue, was avoided late last week when the Winnetka fire department put out the flames in a blazing garage which were scorching the sides of the house. The garage at the back of the McNitt home caught fire from an unknown source.

When the department arrived the frame building was a furnace of flames and the heat from the burning garage was endangering the house nearby. Damage to the building amounted to $175.

An overheated furnace pipe caused a small fire in the basement of the G. E. Farwell home at 1088 Elm street. Before the flames were well started an alarm was turned in. The fire was checked without difficulty. There was no damage.

Announce Special Music Program at Local Church

Mr. Richards will preach, his subject being "In A Mirror."

Music Pupils Entertain Parents With Recital

The pupils of the Winnetka branch of the Columbia School of Music, with Miss Kathleen Air, Miss Katherine Hedglin and Mrs. Florence Breyfogle, entertained their parents with an informal musical last Friday evening.

The Olmsted Trio, consisting of clarinet, cello and piano, played several numbers. Janet, Prescott and John Olmsted were the student artists.

Skokie Motor Display Car Purchased by W. L. Benson

The car was the one being displayed in the Skokie show windows last week.

An Experienced Viewpoint

MUCH printing would be more attractive if the printer were given greater responsibility.

For, while you think in terms of oral or written expression, we as printers concentrate on the question of how to interpret expression in type. And so many factors are involved—what face and size of type, what colors to create the strongest eye-appeal, what paper as the most appropriate to the purpose of the printing.

In this organization we can relieve you of many details and worries incident to the production of an order and it is our constant encouragement that customers more frequently say, "Print this as you think best."

Call us into consultation before you are all ready to have it printed.
