

'SANE FOURTH,' CROWE'S ORDER

State's Attorney Co-operates With Towns in Stopping Fireworks Sales

"No Fireworks" Strict Rule For New Trier

"No Fireworks," may be considered to be the slogan for the Fourth of July insofar as municipal offices and police departments of north shore villages are concerned. For many years, now, the sale and use of fireworks within the villages of New Trier township has been forbidden in consequence of stringent "Sane Fourth" ordinances or resolutions.

Notices are being posted at this pre-Fourth of July Season in Wilmette, Kenilworth, Winnetka and Glencoe and strict enforcement of the law in this regard is promised.

Crowe Takes Action
Each year this enforcement program has been more or less hindered by reason of the fact that an abundance of pyrotechnic paraphernalia has been dispensed at improvised sales places on the outskirts of the north shore. There is indication that this condition will be remedied this year in the announcement by States Attorney Crowe that an intensive drive was to be launched to stop the sale of fireworks in Cook county.

Numerous places has laid in large supplies to be thrown on the market during the next two weeks, it was said, and it is at these temporary distribution points that Mr. Crowe is directing his attack.

Finds Enormous Store
Mr. Crowe's first move was aimed directly at Harry Cohen, formerly operating a store at 1930 Ogden avenue, Chicago, but who recently moved to Leyden township and placed in storage two carloads of firecrackers, Roman candles, torpedoes, and other explosives used on "The Fourth."

Assistant State's Attorney Stanley Klarkowski was informed recently that the fireworks were stored in a barn on the River road. He ordered Cohen taken into custody. A trip was made to the barn and the supplies inventoried. Cohen was ordered to remove them immediately from the county or they would be "dumped into the drainage canal."

Three other complaints of fireworks being stored in the county were investigated and the owners given similar orders. Mr. Crowe then issued orders to all his assistants to take every precaution to see that no fireworks are "bootlegged" into Chicago and suburbs between now and "The Fourth."

Kindergarten College Announces Summer Work

Advance registration indicates that the enrollment for the summer session of the National Kindergarten and Elementary college, which opens June 18, will be decidedly larger than that of previous years. The registration represents the young woman who wants to teach in the kindergarten and primary grades, the graduate teacher who is looking for insight into the new methods of education, the training teacher or supervisor, and the mother who realizes that the mother instinct must be improved upon by scientific study if she is to cope successfully with the modern American child.

In addition to courses by Edna Dean Baker, president of the college, and other members of the regular faculty, the roster of teachers includes the names as such specialists as Dr. Elliott R. Downing of the University of Chicago, Dr. George L. Scherger of Armour Institute of Technology, and Etta M. Mount of the Glenn Dillard Gunn school. The course of lectures on Current Educational Problems by prominent Chicago educators will be of particular interest, embracing not only the problems of the schoolroom but child welfare, civic art, the settlement, community nursing, and every phase of better living for the child.
