

WOMEN VOTERS' LEAGUE SESSION

Executive Committee Discusses League Problems

An important meeting of the executive committee of the National League of Women Voters was in progress this week at the home of Miss Katherine Ludington, treasurer, at Lyme, Connecticut.

Public interest centered in the report of Mrs. Maud Wood Park, president of the league, who has been in Europe for two months, interviewing prominent women of many countries on the question: "What can American women best do to serve the cause of world peace?" The league adopted this problem as one of the major divisions of its program at the annual convention in Des Moines in April, and constructive work is expected to follow Mrs. Park's recommendations.

Discuss Citizen Schools

Detailed reports were also made on three months progress in other phases of the work of the league as outlined at the annual convention. Miss Belle Sherwin, chairman of the department of efficiency in government, spoke of the league citizenship schools, particularly of the summer school in government and politics which will be held in co-operation with Columbia University, New York City, July 16 to 27. This institute with a distinguished faculty will draw representative women from all parts of the country to study the persistent problems of law-making and government with which the woman voter is confronted.

Would Join National Body

The application of the League of Women Voters of Hawaii for affiliation with the National league will be acted upon by the executive committee. Commenting on this application, Mrs. Minnie Fisher Cunningham, executive secretary, said: "We have been greatly pleased at the enthusiasm of the women of Hawaii, and the interest in active citizenship which they display. They have organized a very large league with Mrs. F. F. Bunker as chairman, and the Princess Kalaniana'ole as first vice-chairman, and order literature on the problems of city government by the thousand copies.

The members of the executive committee who attended the meeting at Lyme are: Mrs. Maud Wood Park, president, Washington, D. C.; Miss Belle Sherwin, first vice-president, Cleveland, Ohio; Mrs. Solon Jacobs, second vice-president, Birmingham, Alabama; Miss Ruth Morgan, third vice-president, New York City; Miss Katherine Ludington, treasurer, New York City; Miss Elizabeth J. Hauser, secretary, Girard, Ohio, and Mrs. Minnie Fisher Cunningham, executive secretary, Washington, D. C.

Winnetka has a strong unit of the League of Women Voters.
