

COACH SCHOOL STARTS AT N. U.

Bob Wienecke of Glencoe Takes Special Course

Northwestern university is now offering a coaching course. At the summer session, under the direction of Professor Leon Kranz of the Physical Education department, 75 students are enrolled, taking work in the various branches offered.

While the summer session course is not being offered during the school year, it is looked on favorably by the Athletic department, and with such a head as Doc Evans, and such a staff as Coaches Thistlethwaite, Kent and Hill, in addition to Prof. Kranz, Northwestern will be well fitted to take care of a regular school in the university, whose object will be to train college men to be athletic coaches.

Just Come to Life

The course, offered in a desultory way for the past five or six years, during the vacation months came to life, when Prof. Kranz took charge a year ago. That season 40 were enrolled, while this summer 75 are taking the work.

The courses offered are basketball coaching and athletic management, playground management, physical training and hygiene for public school teachers. The work carries from two to three hours' credit.

Mrs. Kranz, formerly Miss Margaret Schultz, is teaching girls interpretive dancing, folk dancing and pageantry.

Wienecke, Horton Take Course

Among Prof. Kranz's proteges are some of the athletic lights at the north shore school. Bob Wienecke of Glencoe, football star, and basketball light (when he was in high school) is developing his basket eye, while Larry Horton, football center, and head of the athletic association for the coming year, are both enrolled in the course.

Get Material for Varsity

Red Herman, who made the touchdown in the Chicago game last fall, is also one of the recruits, while Alva Graham and G. L. (Red) Hoffman are also taking the work. These last two are pretty apt to be a part of the Northwestern five next season, according to the showing they have made to date. Neither of them were eligible last season. Ned Greiner, a swimmer, and Cromer Houser, a baseball prospect, are the other Purple lights, where any number of school teachers and coaches are in training.

The eight weeks' course is an intensive one, and gives the student an insight into the essentials of the game and the handling of men.

In addition to the summer curriculum the athletic department is running a tennis meet for the faculty and another tourney for the student body, both of which are to be played next week. A golf tournament is also planned.

INSPECT DRINKING WATER

The division of sanitary engineering, Illinois state department of public health, has practically completed the field inspections of the sources and methods of handling drinking water supplies for railroad trains in Illinois. Improvements have been recommended to some of the railroads and some of the watering points, and certification of these watering points will be withheld in reports to the Surgeon General until the necessary improvements have been made. Field inspections and numerous analyses are made for each of the watering points each year as required by interstate quarantine regulations.
