"Chief" Davies Makes Annual Statement of Fund

"I am enclosing a statement of the financial standing of our camp," writes J. W. F. "Chief" Davies, of the Winnetka Community House Lake Hamlin summer camps, in a letter to the editor of the Talk.

"This I do," he continues, "because a fund of over $600 was received by the women of Winnetka at their annual camp card party and I think those interested have a right to know how the camp fund stands. There are a few outstanding bills I have been unable to get in. Their total will not be over $50."

THE PUBLIC FORUM

Winnetka Weekly Talk.
Gentleman:

Probably this is within range of your jurisdiction and I feel that an insertion in your next issue of the Winnetka Talk, with some remark of apology to the business men of Hubbard Woods for the manner in which we were, as one might say "passed up" on the route of the Parade would not be amiss.

If I am not mistaken, the parade was to come down Linden avenue, Hubbard Woods, but, instead, we were neglected.

Our contribution to this festival was on a par with other localities, pro-rata, and I, personally, feel it was a serious error on the part of the person or persons who engineered the parade to permit such an oversight.

I am sure all the local business men were very much disappointed.

W. H. Brown,
Snider-Cazel Drug Co.

Editor's Note: Consultation with the committee in charge of the New Trier Day parade revealed the information that Linden avenue in Hubbard Woods was not traversed by the parade, in view of the fact that the pavement in the block mentioned in above letter was considered to be in poor condition for travel, especially by a long procession made up of a variety of vehicles. A parallel street in Hubbard Woods was at the last moment selected as the parade route.

It was, however, quite unfortunate that the Parade committee did not consider this matter when outlining the route for publication.

The New Trier Commercial association officials express regret at this unfortunate oversight and desire to indicate publicly their sincere appreciation of the splendid co-operation of the Hubbard Woods business men in making New Trier Day such a successful community enterprise.
