Northwestern Women Take Over New Shop In Orrington Hotel

THE Chocolate Shop in the New Orrington hotel, the Northwestern university women's latest money-making venture, will be informally opened on Saturday of this week. The profits of the shop will be devoted to the building funds of the School of Speech, the School of Music and the woman's campus. Students and alumnae have volunteered their services as waitresses to serve the light luncheons and fountain specialties.

The shop is most attractively decorated. Its walls of black mauve are enhanced with seagreen panels outlined in black and ivory with touches of vermilion, and draperies of richly printed linens. Individual booths made of decorated screens and charming window boxes of flowers add to the beauty of the shop.

Among the north shore women who are acting as patronesses with the long list of Evanston alumnae and friends are Mrs. Mark Cresap and Miss Isabel Lovedale, of Kenilworth, Mrs. I. N. McCallum and Mrs. Max Reuhl of Glencoe.

One of the largest weddings of the autumn will take place Saturday evening, September 12, at 8:15 o'clock in the Edgewater Presbyterian church when Miss Hester Abbott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Rufus Abbott of Chicago becomes the bride of Louis Edward Tilden, son of Mrs. Edward Tilden, of Chicago. Several hundred invitations are to be issued for the ceremony, and for the reception afterward at the Kenmore avenue home of the Abbotts.
