STANDARDS BUREAU DEVELOPS REMARKABLE HIGH SPEED CAMERA

Schuler-Thompson Adopts Unique Inspection System

The Schuler-Thompson company of Evanston, dealers in Monroe, Lexington and Jordan cars, has inaugurated a unique Inspection Service plan which promises to prove of benefit to car owners.

Every car sold will be entitled to a monthly inspection which includes adjusting of motor, valve tappets, carburetor, fan, ignition, oil pump, generator, etc.

With this inspection the car owner receives a comprehensive report on repairs needed and the approximate cost of such prospective work.

The plan is designed to protect the car owner in forestalling motor troubles which mar the pleasures of motoring.

EPITAPH

Here lies the body of Jonathan Gray
Who died defending his right-of-way.
He was right, dead right, as he sped along,
But he's just as dead as if he were wrong.

CONTAGION AND FROST

Spring frosts never endanger properly protected vegetation and rarely ever seriously damage plants that are fairly well advanced but they make short work of the very young, tender sprouts. Contagious diseases operate on human beings in much the same way, says the State Department of Public Health, being especially severe on babies.

GRAVE PROBLEM
Measles accounted for over 300 deaths in Illinois last year and precipitated such things as tuberculosis, defective vision and running ears in a lot of children who are now destined to carry these handicaps throughout life. These facts explain why health officers marvel at the profound stupidity of people who believe that everybody has to have measles at some time during life and the younger the better.

The Pony Express

SPEEDING westward from St. Joseph, Mo., and eastward from Sacramento, Cal., relays of riders are now retracing the trail of the Pony Express, in an effort to break the old record.

The real riders of a half century ago set a record of 9 days and 23 hours. Through blizzards and sandstorms, over mountains and deserts, among hostile Indians, the express riders of 1860-61 carried messages vital to the nation.

In the sixteen months before the rails were laid, they traveled a total of 650,000 miles with the loss of but a single pouch of mail. They made a superb record for fidelity in public service.

Other means of communication have supplanted the Pony Express. The telephone lines of the Bell System span the continent. Communication from coast to coast takes but the fraction of a second.

The Pony Express lives only in memory, reawakened to-day by the hoof beats of ponies along the winding trail.

But the spirit of devotion of its riders lives in the men and women who carry on our nationwide telephone service.
