

COOLIDGE LAUDS SCOUT PROGRAM

Accepts Honorary Presidency of Organization

Mentioning the interesting fact that his own two sons are scouts, and that the benefits they have derived from the program has strengthened his conviction of the organization's usefulness, President Coolidge has accepted the honorary presidency of the Boy Scouts of America in the following letter addressed to Colin H. Livingstone, president of the organization:

My Dear Mr. Livingstone:

You may be assured of my readiness to accept the honor of the Presidency of the Boy Scouts of America, as other Presidents have done from the organization of the Scouts. I esteem this post as one of the incidental duties of a President, and likewise one of the most agreeable among them. I have always been deeply interested in the work of the Scouts, which I regard as an ideal mode of citizenship development and character construction. Both my sons are scouts, and my observation of the benefits they have derived from their affiliation has strengthened my conviction of the organization's usefulness. I shall be glad to render any proper service I can to the organization at any time.

Most sincerely yours,
(Signed) CALVIN COOLIDGE.

Mr. Coolidge is the fourth President to become Honorary President of this Movement; ex-Presidents Wilson and Taft are honorary vice-presidents. There is every indication in the attitude of President Coolidge that he will continue the late president Harding's policy of intimate enthusiastic participation in all efforts to extend the work of the Boy Scouts movement.
