

PASTOR ATTENDS CHURCH PARLEY

Richards Is Delegate to Congregational Session

Rev. James A. Richards of the Winnetka Congregational church will attend the national meeting of the Congregational churches to be held in Springfield, Mass., October 16-23 as a delegate elected by the Chicago association to represent it in the national body

The National Council is made up of delegates elected by state conferences and local associations of churches.

Prominent Speakers

Among the speakers who will take part in the meeting are: Rev. William E. Barton, D. D., of Oak Park, Ill., who will give the Moderator's address; Rev. S. Parkes Cadman, D. D., of Brooklyn, who will preach the Council sermon; Rev. William Horace Day, D. D., of Bridgeport, Conn.; Prof. Luther A. Weigle, of Yale; Rev. Oscar E. Maurer, D. D., of New Haven; Rev. Henry C. King, D. D., of Oberlin college; Pres. Mary E. Woolley, of Mt. Holyoke college; Rev. Chester B. Emerson, of Detroit; Sherwood Eddy, Rev. Harry Emerson Fosdick, D. D., of New York; Pres. Francis E. Clark, of the Christian Endeavor; Rev. James L. Barton, D. D., of Boston; Dr. John H. Finley, of the New York Times; Rev. J. N. Pierce, D. D., of Washington, D. C.; Col. John T. Axton, U. S. A.; Capt. Evan Scott, U. S. N.; Pres. Robert E. Spear, of the Federal Council; Rev. Chas. L. Goodell, D. D., of New York; Rev. Chas. E. Jefferson, D. D.; Judge Florence E. Allen, of Cleveland and many other nationally known men and women.

Congregationalists began their church in America at Plymouth and through three centuries it has been closely connected with all phases of community, state and national life.

In the early days the church was the leading influence in the community. Only its members could vote in town elections and its own affairs were managed not by the communicant members of the church alone but by the Ecclesiastical society, made up of responsible men, and later of women also, in the community. It was independent as were the settlements and went its own way as the people wished. As the scattered communities began to join together in towns, in states and finally in a nation, so the churches began to fellowship in small groups known as "Associations;" later in state conferences and lastly, nearly a hundred years after we had become a nation, the churches of the country formed a National Council.

When the national council was formed its field of interests was very narrowly confined. It was feared that some over-head organization might be built up which would interfere with the freedom and autonomy of the local church. For these are the prized possessions of each congregation and are guarded most zealously.

Need For Co-operation

But as the years have gone by and churchmen have realized more and more the vast forces against which the church must exert its spirit, and as tasks to which the churches wished to address themselves were found to be nation-wide as well as local, the need and value of some national organization through which the churches might work both for fellowship and service, have led to the strengthening of the council in many ways. The freedom of the local church however has been preserved and in no way has there been any attempt to overlord it by the organization created by the churches nor by the officers of the council.

The council which meets at Springfield will bring together leaders from all parts of the country. It is expected that at least 2,000 visitors will come to Springfield for the meetings. In addition to the addresses which will be given by leading men and women of several denominations, there will be reports of the various commissions which have been making a close study of some of the questions before us as a people.

Local Realty Concern Makes Many Transfers

Gleason and Perrin, realtors, report that their recent sales amounting to nearly $100,000 include the following transfers:

The stucco residence at 1423 Scott avenue, to Nathan Raymer; 130 feet of vacant on Garland avenue to R. Weilbrenner and H. Mansfield; the brick residence at 251 Scott avenue to H. H. Hopkins; the colonial home at 139 Bertling lane to F. Sterling; 73 feet of vacant on Warwick to J. M. Rodger; 132 feet of vacant on Hawthorne, Glencoe, to E. Leonard.

This Man Is Expert in Auto Ignition Service

W. L. Riedy, who has for three months, operated an auto curtain repair shop and ignition station at 20 Prouty Annex, is planning the installation of a battery service station at that location.

Mr. Riedy thoroughly understands the auto ignition business having enjoyed a great deal of experience in California where he managed a large station. It is his intention to give prompt service to all his customers in Winnetka.

JOHNNY PAPPAJOHN IS BACK AT OLD "STAND"

Folks, he's back! We mean Johnny Pappajohn, the north shore's shortest (in stature only) and most popular confectioner.

Johnny has reentered his former "stand" in the Indian Hill station district and is prepared again to give New Trier students the "best service ever."

Johnny always maintained an orderly and sanitary place there, 'tis said, but his successors, did not so well in that regard and so became the victims of what was virtually a boycott.

There is universal joy at the return of Johnny, and the high school band is said to be preparing a real reception in which the song of welcome will be:

"When Johnny comes marching home."

Mr. Pappajohn is also proprietor of the two refreshment retreats flanking the Village theatre at Wilmette.
