

STUDY BIOLOGY AT THE MUSEUM

Skokie Classes Find Good Laboratory

Books have their place in any form of instruction, but they can never supersede the thing which one can see in its actuality. The Skokie biology classes have been talking about meteors and dinosaurs, and vertebrates and fossils for some weeks. And there has been a great desire upon the part of more than 150 children who are in these classes to see some of these things which have been talked about.

It was found that the North Shore line could supply motor busses at a charge which slightly exceeded the round trip fare on the train, which would take the children from the door of the school to the door of the museum and back again. Thursday, November 15, the first trip was made, two busses carrying more than 65 children to the museum. And last Monday another group of more than 70 made the trip. The adventure was so enjoyable, as well as instructive, that the eighth grade classes, who did not have the advantage of these trips last year, demanded the privilege of going also. Next week several bus loads of eighth grade children will embark for the Field Museum. It is hoped that during the year several similar trips can be arranged for the upper grade children, and the suggestion has been made that the busses solve the transportation problem in such a way that the fourth grade children who are studying dinosaurs and mammoth elephants and other prehistoric wonders, may have a chance to see a few skeletons of the real thing.

WANT NORTH AVENUE CALLED TOWER ROAD

Following receipt this week of a petition asking that North avenue be changed in name to "Tower road," the Village council authorized its Streets, Drainage and Forestry committee to make a study of the matter of the necessity for other street name changes in the village, particularly with reference to cases of confusing nomenclature, such as results from Linden street, Linden avenue and other designations.

The petition of the North avenue residents prompted a discussion relative to the advisability of making a general study of necessity of street name changes throughout the entire village.

It was thought advisable by council members that if any changes in street names are to be made at this time, all should be embodied in one comprehensive ordinance, to avoid necessity of frequent changes in maps and other public records that would follow frequent changes in names.

The task of making the study of street name changes was given over to the Streets, Drainage and Forestry committee which later issued the statement that it would be glad to receive, through the village manager's office, any suggestions residents may desire to make in regard to such changes.

THE PUBLIC FORUM

Editor,
Winnetka Talk,

Dear Sir:

In your issue of November 10, there appeared in the Public Forum an article by Mr. John C. Cobb, president of the Winnetka Improvement association, in which the local post of the American Legion was quoted as being opposed to a Soldiers' Memorial being built in Winnetka.

This matter was brought before the Post at our meeting of November 13, and I wish to advise Mr. Cobb and the people of Winnetka where the Legion stands on this particular question.

Winnetka Post is not opposed to a memorial being built providing the money needed to build the same is raised by other organizations, and not by the Legion.

We have never requested or demanded that any honor be bestowed upon us for our services in the late war. To come out and request that a memorial be built would seem that we wish to "pat ourselves on the back" and that we are asking the people of Winnetka to regard us as heroes when in reality, we only did our duty.

We do feel, however, that the memorial should be built. That our Buddies who paid the supreme sacrifice should be honored and not forgotten. Let's not give them a little flare-up popularity and then forget them until Decoration Day comes around or Armistice day again reminds of those sacrifices. Place it there on the Common where all who pass may see it and pay respect to those Gold Star boys who died, in the cause of enduring peace and the security of our homes.

This question is for the people of Winnetka, and not the legion, to decide. We stand today as in '17-'18. To serve in peace as well as war, and we ask only that those things for which we fought be realized.

Yours very truly,
Winnetka Post 10, American Legion,
Thomas J. Lynch, Commander.

"With deep and grateful satisfaction, the promoters of the White Elephant Sale, which was held at the Community House on November 14 and 15, record the proceeds as $3,885. No words or figures can describe the extent of the inspiring "good-will" spread throughout the community by the splendid spirit of co-operation on the part of all the people of the village. Offers of help to the committee poured in from members of every church, club, school, society, and from individuals. These offers were gratefully accepted as far as they were needed, and the generous offers which could not be accepted continued to inspire and stimulate the committee throughout the sale.

"The utmost harmony and sympathetic interest prevailed to the end of the enterprise, and it is a source of heartfelt gratification that the bonds of fellowship and co-operation in the community have been immeasurably strengthened by this latest achievement.

WINNETKA SLOW IN RED CROSS DRIVE

Winnetka is not contributing as readily as it should in the Seventh Annual Roll Call of the American Red Cross.

"Despite the fact that much emphasis was laid upon the great need of a general response to the appeal for Red Cross funds this year," reads a notice sent out by Mrs. Willoughby Walling, chairman of the Winnetka campaign, "the subscription are coming in slowly. Two days' enrollment at our three railroad stations netted but $331. The enrollment booths at the Woman's club and the Community Exchange together brought in but $74.

"We need your help!"
The following committee is now engaged in a follow-up of the Appeal letters mailed to Winnetka households about ten days ago.

Mrs. Ayres Boal, Mrs. Ballard Bradley, Mrs. Harve G. Badgerow, Mrs. E. B. Bartlett, Mrs. E. H. Clark, Mrs. Harold De Lay, Mrs. Victor Elting, Mrs. H. C. Edmonds, Mrs. Charles Fuller, Mrs. John McEwen, Mrs. James W. Prindiville, Mrs. E. S. Rogers, Mrs. Edgar Stanton, Mrs. Robert Stevenson, Miss Eva Wilson.

Information concerning the Winnetka campaign may be secured by communicating with Mrs. Willoughby Walling, Private road.
