

GUILD PLAYERS APPEAR TONIGHT

"The Red Robe" to Provide
Week-end Entertainment for Theater-goers

FIVE PERFORMANCES

Brilliant Cast Assembled for French Drama

Patrons of the North Shore Theatre Guild are anticipating profitable entertainment this week-end in the performances in Winnetka of "The Red Robe," an Eugene Brieux production for which director Alexander Dean has drilled what promises to be one of the most brilliant amateur casts ever assembled for appearance on the north shore.

The play will be seen in the Jane Kuppenheimer Memorial hall at Winnetka tonight and Monday night. It will also be offered in Lake Forest and Evanston on Tuesday and Wednesday of next week.

Modern French Drama

"The Red Robe" is considered one of the greatest of modern French dramas, and its author ranks second only to the immortal Rostand. It represents accurately the modern French drama and is still being produced in Paris. It is strictly French in incident, but possesses a human note that is universal in its appeal.

The Guild version is an adaptation by Mr. Dean, although acts two and four are presented practically intact.

The Guild Players are already in rehearsal for the third production of the current season which bears the title, "Plots and Playwrights," by the pen of Edward Massy.

The fourth play of the season, of which the name is withheld at this time, is known to have enjoyed an extended run in New York and has never been produced in Chicago.

"Red Robe" Cast

The cast of "The Red Robe" includes: Oliver Farnsworth, Dorothy Todd, Mrs. Leslie Parker, Beatrice Pease, Abram Mendenhall, Perry Dunlap Smith, Julia Hanks, Lloyd Faxon, Samuel Otis, Samuel C. Smart, Mrs. Dudley Cates, Henry J. Cary-Curr and Mrs. Frederick Dickinson.

The production staff includes: Alexander Dean, director; Gregory Foley, production manager; William A. Fuller, art director; John W. McPherrin and Westley Swanson, stage managers; Alyn Szold, properties; Cameron Garbutt, electrician; Evelyn Hill, assistant director; Babette Marshall, make-up; Francis Allen, business manager.

Mrs. Theodore Keehn

"For nearly four years," reads a communication in a Red Cross periodical, "Mrs. Theodore Keehn, of Winnetka, Ill., has been one of the most faithful Red Cross volunteers in the transcribing of Braille. Following are some of the books she has made available to the sightless:

"The Valley of Silent Men," by James Oliver Curwood; "Ramblin' Kid," by E. W. Bowman; "The Yellow Trail," by E. M. Boddy; "Next War, An Appeal To Common Sense," by Will Irwin; "The Golden Scorpion," by A. S. Ward; "Green Eyes of Bast," by A. S. Ward; "The Strength of the Pines," by Edison Marshall; "Man-Size," by William MacLeod Raine."

Mrs. Keehn resides at 662 Maple avenue.

Winnetka Group Hears Lecture by Emile Coue

About 80 Winnetkans were guests at the J. Williams Macy home on Private road Sunday of this week to hear a lecture by Emile Coue, famous exponent of the theory of auto-suggestion, who was a week-end guest at the Macy residence.

In his lecture, and practical illustrations, M. Coue emphasized the point that he was not working in contradiction to the medical profession but rather co-operating with it. He declared he was not, as had been intimated in press comments, a healer or miracle worker.

MAY BRING "CLAVILUX" WIZARD TO WINNETKA

Winnetka people may soon see Thomas Wilfred in an entertainment with his famous instrument, the "clavilux," said by critics to be "the first practical instrument to harness light and place it at the command of a skilled player at the keyboard," if the plans of Willard Beatty, principal of Skokie school, to bring him here, materialize.

"We can probably secure him for a program if there is enough interest in it," says Mr. Beatty. "I would like to hear from villagers who might be interested."

"Seated at the 'clavilux' keyboard," says Mr. Beatty, "Wilfred, by playing upon the keys, releases pure white light, moulds it into form, makes the form move and change in rhythm, introduces texture, depth and finally color of absolute purity and intensity. The result is projected on a white screen as a silent visual composition with no more relation to music than a painting or a poem."

Commenting on Mr. Wilfred's performance, the Philadelphia North American says, "It is truly a marvelous achievement, one which opens a new field to man's sense of beauty and makes an appeal to the soul. To see, a dim, vaporous mass of grayish green slowly melt into a definite form of glowing yellow, which rises and as it rises unfolds, flowerlike, into what might be token four floating crimson tulips; to watch the birth of a mystic, prophet-like figure, all blue and tawny, form a shaft of living whiteness, and gasp as it dies in a silent thunderstroke of the red of blood—these are sensations so strange to the eye as to render the recording brain almost incapable of adequate utterance. It causes one to wonder—what next?"

CONVALESCING

Miss Marian Gram, a teacher at the Greeley school, who has been ill for several weeks, is convalescing at her home in Menominee, Michigan. Mrs. Robert Smith is teaching Miss Gram's classes temporarily.

Vestry of Christ Church Names Its New Officers

Then new vestry of Christ church held its first meeting Tuesday evening of this week and immediately proceeded to the election of George E. Frazer as treasurer, to succeed Harry D. Edmonds, who resigned after serving the parish in that capacity for five years.

Miss Cora B. Lamb was elected missionary treasurer, and Donald F. McPherson was chosen as clerk.

Members of the vestry expressed regret at the resignation of Mr. Edmonds, but voiced their appreciation of his splendid services, stating that it was largely through his excellent supervision of the funds of the church that the parish has been placed on a sound financial basis.

The budget of the church for the ensuing year has been increased, it was announced at the vestry session. The totaling $23,000, already has been pledged, it was explained. The budget for benevolences is $14,500, so that, with an additional $17,500 for the proposed new church organ, the entire budget totals $55,000.

Red and Green Headlights Mean the Fire Apparatus

Perchance you are driving along one of Winnetka's thoroughfares at night, and perchance you see two large lights, one green and the other red approaching. That will be your signal to pull over to the curbing, for those lights represent the fire department apparatus.

Chief Houren had the colored headlights affixed this week, following a practice which has proved effective in Evanston and other Chicago suburbs.

A Will—Part of the Thrift Plan

After you have worked hard to accumulate some property for the protection of those dear to you, you want to know that it will be disposed of according to your wishes after you are gone.

The only way you can be sure of this is to make a will and have it properly witnessed. Making a will is a duty you owe to others.

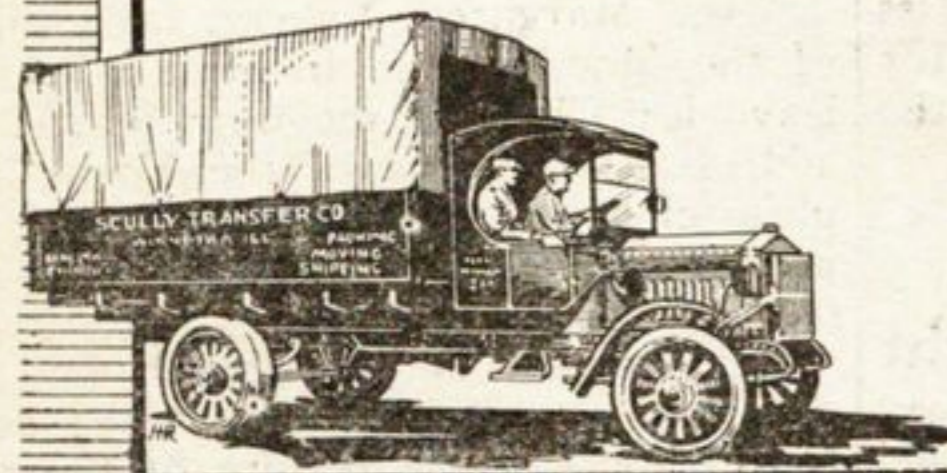

Stop in at this bank and talk the matter over with us. It is never too early to attend to this matter.
