Customer Cooperation

TELEPHONE service consists essentially in providing the facilities for communication.

Reduced to fundamentals, it may be stated thus:—

- A is provided with a telephone.
- B is provided with a telephone.
- C, through wires and mechanism, connects these two telephones.

Satisfaction with the service depends largely on A and B.

From the very beginning their cooperation is imperative. A must call B and B must answer. Doing these things in the way which makes for good service involves:—

- 1—Such care in asking for the number as one would use in addressing a letter.
- 2—Such promptness in answering the call as one would give to keeping a personal appointment.
- 3—Such courtesy as one would show in making or receiving a business or social call.
- 4—Such clear, correct speech as one would use in the face-to-face transaction of the most important business.

Each subscriber can increase the effectiveness of his telephone communication by such thoughtfulness as he would employ in his daily life.
