

CLAVILUX IS WONDER ORGAN

Recital at Winnetka Shows Possibilities of Light as a Fine Art

APPEAL TO THE EYE

Audience Amazed at Wilfred Performance

Recently in Jane Kuppenheimer Memorial hall, Winnetka, Thomas Wilfred gave a "light recital" of his own compositions. In his introductory remarks Mr. Wilfred explained the New Art of Light, outlining past attempts, present developments, and future possibilities of Light as a fine art.

In the art of music, said Mr. Wilfred, we have a well-developed art which appeals to the ear. In the art of light we have a very new art which makes appeals to the eye. Just as there are musical compositions which with melody, harmony, and rhythm express the feelings and thoughts of the composer so there are already light compositions, the work of Mr. Wilfred, which with colors and forms, moving more or less rhythmically, express the feelings and thoughts of Mr. Wilfred, who is the sole composer in this new field.

This new art's instrument, the clavilux, is merely a complicated arrangement of lights, colored plates, and keyboard; the purpose of the machine being to permit the player to control and project on a screen the infinite combinations of the seven colors of the rainbow.

Let's see one clavilux number. It is Opus 8 by Wilfred played by the composer. We see first the solo, or central pattern, a single form appearing at the bottom of the screen and thence slowly rising and rotating to disappear at the top. The "key" of this solo is Green, White, and Orange, meaning that this form consists of these three colors mingled in many proportions. The accompaniment to this solo is a double form, two forms, one appearing on each side of the solo. These secondary forms advance, recede, and rotate and their "key" is Green, Blue, and White. It is very much like a moving picture except that the only human element in the clavilux projection is the idea of the composer. Then, too, the new art is kaleidoscopic in nature but the combinations made by means of the clavilux are intentional, not merely chance.

Words cannot describe these colors and forms, rising, descending, rotating, mingling, advancing, retreating on the screen. Comparisons of these pictures with flowers, volcanoes, angels, etc., are misleading, because it is the composer's idea to prevent ideas, not concrete forms. See the recital yourself and you will have been present at what may turn out to be The Birth of a New Art.

Income Tax Facts

Official Information, Bureau of Internal Revenue

The period for filing income-tax returns for the calendar year 1923 ends at midnight of March 15, 1924. Heavy penalties are provided by the revenue act for persons who fail or "willfully refuse" to make a return or pay the tax on time.

For failure to make a return a taxpayer becomes liable to a penalty of $1,000, and a further penalty of 25 per cent of the amount of the tax, unless a later return is filed and it is satisfactorily shown that the delinquency was due to reasonable cause and not to willful neglect.

For willful refusal to make a return or pay the tax on time a taxpayer becomes liable to a penalty of $10,000 or one year's imprisonment, or both, together with the cost of prosecution, and an added penalty of 25 per cent of the amount of the tax.

If in an income-tax return attempt is made to evade or defeat the tax, the offender is liable to imprisonment not exceeding one year and to a fine of not more than $10,000 and costs, and in addition, 50 per cent of the total tax evaded. If the understatement is due to negligence but without attempt to defraud, there is added 5 per cent of the total amount of the deficiency plus interest at the rate of 1 per cent a month until paid.

Seek State Honors in Basket Ball Tourney

The New Trier heavyweight basket ball team which last week decisively defeated Rockford and Deerfield Shields High school cagers, was prepared to make its mark this weekend in the tournament games for the Illinois scholastic title.

The local preps have held the northern district title three years straight and figure to take a step higher this season. The tournament is being played at Deerfield-Shields High school.

DANGERS OF ALCOHOL

As a part of the training for health given in the schools of Latvia, a new law requires instruction on the dangers of alcohol. The Minister of Public Instruction must revise the school program to include this instruction within a year.

TIRE COMPETITION KEEN

The several extensive Australian tire manufacturers are said to find keen competition from foreign makes. In Adelaide a French-made casing is now reported as the most popular, with the tires of an American make a close second.
