Chicagoans Prominent at Biennial Convention

APPROXIMATELY 1,000 women left Chicago, Saturday, in five special cars, for the west, where they are traveling as delegates from this vicinity to the biennial convention of the General Federation of Women's clubs which opened in Los Angeles on June 2.

Problems of world-wide and nationwide interest will be discussed by such persons of note as Carrie Chapman Catt, Princess Cantacuzene, Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover, Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., Dr. Hugh S. Magill, Rupert Hughes, Mrs. Katherine Knowles Robbins, Oswald Ryan, Mrs. Percy V. Pennybacker and Mrs. Thomas G. Winter, the retiring president.

The morning sessions of the convention will be for the delegates only, of whom more than 10,000 are expected to attend. During the afternoon hours, the meetings will be of a more general character, and visitors will be permitted.

Mrs. George T. Palmer, now serving her first term as president of the Illinois federation, is heading the women of this state.

Mrs. Edward S. Bailey, former state president and retired general federation director for Illinois, is also attending. Among other women from Chicago, well known in club circles along the shore, who are prominently participating, are: Mrs. Marx Oberndorfer, presiding at the fine arts conference; Mrs. William Harrison Cade, a speaker on "Getting Out the Woman Vote"; Mrs. George W. Plummer, presiding at a joint conference on "friendly cooperation with ex-service men"; Mrs. J. Marc Fowler, Dr. Rachelle Yarros, Dr. Caroline Hedger, Mrs. A. Starr Best, Miss Helen Bagg, and Mrs. H. L. Martenstein.

An international evening program will be an unusual feature of the biennial. Speakers will represent eight nations.

The work hours will be lightened by various affairs which have been planned by the hostesses for these delegates who are taking care of the interests of club women all over the country—unable to attend the convention. In due time reports of what has transpired will be told them by their leaders "who go and come unbiased, without partisanship, and without self seeking."
