

She Participates in March of Progress

Mrs. A. N. Gilbert of Salem, Ore., says that she finds touring in a modern Reo Sedan with balloon tires considerably more alluring than her first trip across the country, made in an ox cart.

Mrs. A. N. Gilbert of Salem, Ore., who made her first trip across the American continent behind an ox team when her father joined the rush of the Forty-niners, is just completing a second long trip, one of 11,000 miles. This time, however, Mrs. Gilbert, who is 75 years of age, finds travelling conditions vastly changed. In the company of her daughter, Mrs.

B. O. Schucking, also of Salem, she is touring in a Reo Sedan, 1924 model, equipped with balloon tires. The two women are unescorted, and in spite of the fact that they have driven all hours of day and night, they have never had the slightest cause for alarm. Nothing but the friendliest courtesy from fellow tourists and the residents of cities and towns in which they have stopped has been reported by the mother and daughter.

Mrs. Gilbert was met by newspapermen in squads at the time of her arrival in New York after 8,000 miles of the journey had been completed, and to them she stated that she had not been the least bit fatigued by her six weeks of riding. In Lansing, where they visited the shops of the Reo Motor Car Company, Mrs. Gilbert and Mrs. Schucking consented to have the picture made, which is reproduced here.

Winnetkan Lauded for Aid to Disabled Vets

J. M. Dickinson, Jr., of Winnetka Post No. 10, American Legion, received signal honors at the Legion's state convention in Champaign, early this week. It came after Mr. Dickinson had read his report on rehabilitation, he being the head of the committee having that work in charge.

Copious in scope and compact in style, the document was pronounced a masterpiece. After its reading and adoption, the convention passed a vote of thanks for Mr. Dickinson not alone for the report, but for his energetic work on the rehabilitation body.

Mr. Dickinson is a past commander of the Winnetka Post.

Engineering for Service

WITH the twang of a clock-spring, carried over a short stretch of wire one June day in 1875, came a discovery that was to be of incalculable value to mankind. On that day the telephone was born, and a new vocation came into being, the profession of telephone engineering.

To-day, 49 years later, a host of men, successors of Bell and his single assistant, are applying their trained abilities to the complex problems of meeting the nation's demand for telephone service. They explore the unknown and adapt the known in Science. They bring the thoroughness of specialists to the tasks of construction, operation, management. Their common objective is an improved service whereby man may substitute his voice for his physical presence in distant places.

Engineered and not haphazard effort has brought the triumphs that mark advances in the convenience of the telephone. Because of this effort there is a communion of communities without which America, as we know it, could not exist.

The Illinois Bell Telephone Company employs every proved method of obtaining economy in operation without impairing the quality of its service. As more telephones are added, operating costs necessarily increase
