Miss Martha Stevens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar A. Stevens, 330 Abbottsford road, turned an afternoon bridge party into an announcement party at her home last Friday afternoon. Attached to dainty bridge tallies, Miss Stevens' guests found tiny envelopes enclosing pictures of herself and John C. Corey, son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Corey, of Brielle, New Jersey. The wedding is announced to take place sometime next September.

Miss Eleanor Eckhart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy B. Eckhart, is planning a lovely trip to take place shortly after the first of the year. Accompanied by Miss Elizabeth Drew and her parents of New York City, Miss Eckhart will start journeying south on January 8, with South America as her destination. The party plans a trip over the Andes and up the Amazon among the adventures that await them.

Many Kenilworth friends of the Frank David Fultons, 884 Hill road, Winnetka, have received cards to a reception and dinner dance for Miss Marian Belle Fulton. The reception will take place at the Fulton home on the afternoon of December 27, and the dinner dance at the Indian Hill club on the night of December 30.

Miss Caroline Gromann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph S. Gromann, 1316 Chestnut avenue, who has been attending Rockford college, will arrive home this week-end and will be hostess at a dinner party on the evening of December 26, preceding the Young People's dance at the Kenilworth club.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ware, 325 Abbottsford road, left Thursday for their home in Pasadena, California, spending Christmas in Denver en route. The last lap of their journey from Phoenix to Pasadena will be made by motor.

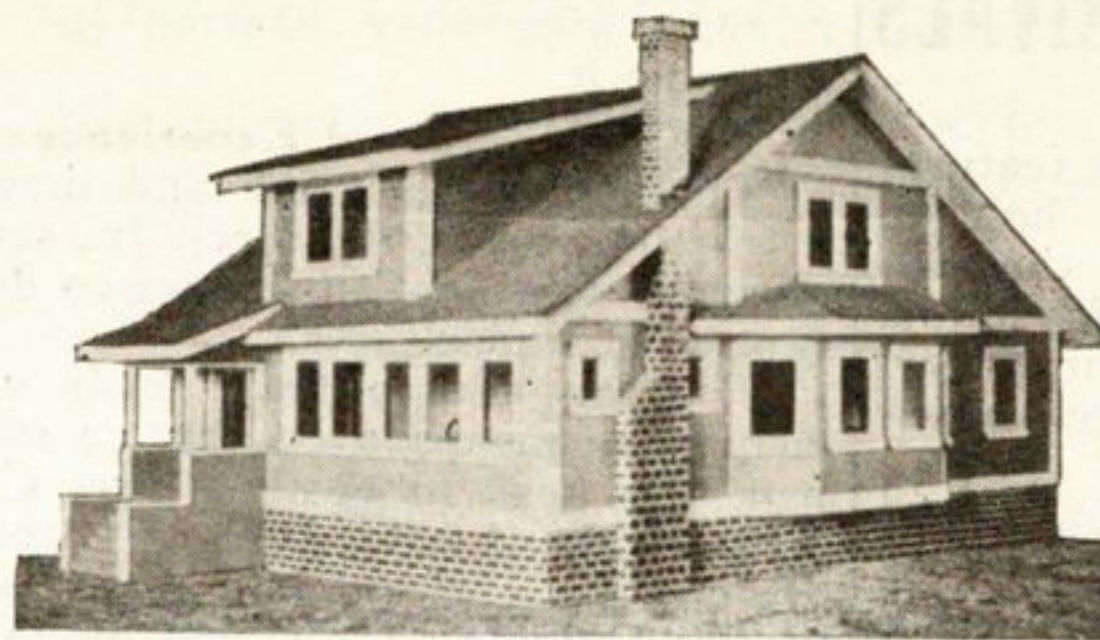

Mrs. Arthur Haynes of the Kenilworth Inn entertained the Bridge club at luncheon Monday.

A "SPECIAL DELIVERY" FOR THE OLD POSTMAN

Old Bill, the postman, was nearing home after his day's trudging, trudging in the new snow delivering Christmas mail. So many letters for so many people—would there be one for him? He brushed the snow from his mail box and held his breath while he looked. No—there was none; and a great lump came in his throat. Thirty, forty envelopes bearing Christmas cheer he had delivered at a single house, but not one letter greeted him at his own door on Christmas Eve. He entered the tiny house disconsolate. It was so lonely there since "she" had died—and their only son was far away and had not even written—no, not a single letter. Bill shuffled into the kitchen and sank into a rocker near the stove. "Not one letter," was his only thought, "and yet I deal in letters." Just then the doorbell rang, and a "special delivery" was thrust into his hands. With tears of joy he tore it open and read. His son, his only son would be home on the "midnight" train.—H. Lucius Cook.
