BOYS TO VIE IN AIR RACE

Challenge Paris in Miniature Plane Contest

North shore boys may compete with boys of Paris, France, in flying miniature airplanes. The Chicago Y. M. C. A. have radiographed a challenge to the boys of Paris for a contest in flying.

Raymond Poincare, former Premier of France, has written Terence Vincent, director of the miniature flyers, approving of the project and expressing the hope for "the development and retention of friendship of the children of our two nations" and hoping that the proposed international contest "will fortify international concord and universal peace."

William E. Schweitzer, Armour Institute, of station 92W at 4264 Hazel avenue, Chicago, sent the following radio message to the Y. M. C. A. of Paris, on behalf of the Chicago Y. M. C. A. "To foster international good will, Chicago challenges Paris to boys' miniature airplane contest. Letter follows. Glenn D. Adams, 19 South LaSalle street."

The plan is, according to Mr. Adams, for the Chicago "Y" to conduct tryouts for the week ending January 31 at each of ten local departments. These tryouts will be open to all boys in Chicago and suburbs who have not reached their fifteenth birthday, and who wish to compete.

The contest will be for indoor duration of flight for planes not exceeding twelve inches in length or width and powered with rubber bands. Each contestant will be allowed to fly his plane officially three times and the total time will be his score. Each plane must be complete and made by the contestant.

Plans for making an indoor duration plane may be obtained from the Miniature Aircraft Fliers, 746 Monadnock Block. A self-addressed, stamped envelope sent there, will bring an answer to your query.

A. W. Hanson, of the overseas department of the national council of the Y. M. C. A., who has recently returned from Europe, says that the French youth are more keenly interested in aircraft than Americans. "Chicago boys will have to go some to defeat the French youth in anything connected with aeronautics," says Mr. Hanson. Results of the contest will be sent by amateur radiocasters between the two countries.

SOURCE OF EPIDEMICS

The reason why epidemics come and go is plain to the fellow who understands that every living thing upon the earth is incessantly engaged against other living things in the struggle for existence. An epidemic always follows when the causative disease germs, for one reason or another, acquire an advantage over the other forms of life to which they are related. The advantage may be extremely temporary or it may be prolonged. It may be due to weather conditions, or to a lack of resistance on the part of man, or to a strong, robust family of germs or to a multitude of other things too numerous to mention.—Public Health Service.

40,000 TOURISTS

Traffic counts on the Lincoln Highway, just completed, indicate that by the end of the season not less than 40,000 tourist cars will have passed through North Platte, Neb.
