

PARISH HONORS DIOCESE HEAD

Christ Church Tenders Reception to Bishop Anderson Next Tuesday Night

HIS SILVER JUBILEE

Church Leaders and Prelate to Speak

The members and friends of Christ church are looking forward to a historic event in their parish life when they will gather at a reception on Tuesday evening, February 10, at the Parish House to meet Bishop and Mrs. Charles Palmerston Anderson. The occasion is to celebrate the completion of Bishop Anderson's quarter of a century as Bishop of the Diocese of Chicago.

"He is a man that any church and community would delight to honor," stated a member of the parish to a WINNETKA TALK representative this week. "He is an outstanding figure in the city of Chicago and in the Christian church. Contact with such a leader through spiritual ministrations and personal service has been the inestimable privilege of Christ church for 25 years, during which time it has grown from an organized mission with 90 communicants, with a total budget for parochial and general church funds of $1,249.90 to a parish of 577 communicants and 1,246 baptized members, spending over $19,000 for parochial expenses and approximately $166,000 for the general church (according to report at the Diocesan Convention 1924)."

Record of Achievement

"One of the especial benefits and responsibilities of the Episcopal church is the very particular opportunity for service open to all the parish through diocesan organization," continued the TALK informant. "To no parish perhaps is this as vital as that in the well-to-do suburb, which is to a considerable degree sheltered from the ugliness and misery that is such a large, and it almost seems inevitable, part of modern civilization. The diocese of Chicago, thanks to Bishop Anderson's energy and vision, has a long and ever-growing list of institutions ministering indefatigably to the needs of that great city wherever the need is most dire. The church cares for the homeless aged, for the orphan and fatherless; it has free schools and homes, day nurseries, a social settlement, regular visitors at the jails, house of correction, and a refuge always hospitably open to the 'down and outs'. For holding our church fast in the faith and practice of Christian service, perhaps more than for any other one reason, the congregation of Christ church honors its beloved leader.

Bishop to Speak

"Every member and friend of the parish is invited and urged to come to the reception at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening. There will be short addresses by Mr. William B. McIlvaine and Mr. Godfrey H. Atkin on the bishop's 25 years of service, after which Bishop Anderson has promised to speak.

Ten Skokie Pupils Start Work at New Trier High

Ten eighth graders at the Skokie school have taken advantage of the beginning of a new class this month at New Trier high school. Those who passed on into the high school were Dorothy Dahl, Robert Fisher, Ruth Flinn, Madeline Kahn, John Milton, Alan Ingram, Theodore Schultz, Edward Selberg, Arthur Swanson, and Mildred Soukup.

Isabel Milton, who graduated in June, and who has spent the last six months in a post graduate course at Skokie, also completes her work at this time. Isabel has been president of the student body and her departure will mean that Ruth Shepherd, vice president during the fall of the year, will become president from now until June. The departure of John Milton also leaves a vacancy in the corps of cheer leaders, which will probably be filled by an election during the coming week.

As it is customary to award diplomas only once a year in the Winnetka schools, the February graduates will return to participate in the graduation ritual in June.

Mrs. Matt Gille of Union Mills, Ind. arrived this week to spend a few days with Mr. and Mrs. George F. Leichsenring of 932 Ash street.

Winnetka Army Man at White House Reception

Further honor has come to Capt. Fraser Hale, son of Henry R. Hale of 761 Foxdale avenue. Captain Hale is in the United States Army flying corps and was one of the distinguished party that was entertained in the Blue Room of the White House by President and Mrs. Coolidge, a week or so ago.

"Colonel Sherrill, and the Naval and Marine corps officers under Capt. Adolphus Andrews, the commander of the Presidential yacht, 'Mayflower,' passed in glittering array," says the "Spur," in which an account was given of the brilliant affair, and among the aides to Colonel Sherrill, who is called the 'major domo,' when it comes to getting into shape new, embarrassed phalanxes so they may pass the receiving line in front of the president and his lady without losing all sense of direction, was Capt. Fraser Hale.

FIFTH CONCERT GALA OCCASION

Critic Terms It Best of Present Series

By MUSIC CRITIC

It was a gala occasion. No concert given by the Symphony Players of Chicago in New Trier assembly hall ever combined such a galaxy of star features as the fifth one in the 1924-25 series, presented on Wednesday evening, February 4. Every seat was occupied, not a single vacancy at 8:15. The soloist of the evening, Rudolph Reuter, elicited enthusiastic applause by his masterly piano playing. The program contained portions of two of the world's greatest compositions. Brahms' Second Symphony and Wagner's Prelude to the Mastersingers of Nurnberg.

The first number was the prelude to the opera, "The Improvisator," by Eugene D'Albert. It was played brilliantly by the orchestra, the gay and spirited prelude forming a delightful opening to the evening's performance. Following this came two movements from Brahms' Second Symphony, an Adagio and an Allegretto. Great music it was, rich in melody and harmony, expressing many moods, cheerfulness, gayety, humor, vivacity. Mr. Dasch and his men presented it with full appreciation of its surpassing values.

Next appeared the assisting artist of the evening, the well-known pianist, Rudolph Reuter. He played Schumann's only concerto for piano and orchestra. His technique was crisp and clear. His interpretive power was discriminating and convincing. Being vigorously encored he gave the audience a nocturne by Chopin. Few artists are such complete masters of the resources of the piano as Mr. Reuter.

After the intermission came a characteristically Swedish composition, Hugo Alfvén's "Midsummer Wake." The audience took this in with evident pleasure. George Schumann's "Dance of Nymphs and Satyrs" was also enjoyable. The closing number was Wagner's Prelude to the "Mastersingers;" it showed clearly Wagner's "wealth of imagination and marvelous contrapuntal facility."

The main feature of the afternoon program was the playing of Mendelssohn's E Minor Concerto for violin and orchestra. The violinist, George Swigart, well known in Wilmette and New Trier high school, acquitted himself with great credit, playing fluently and with appropriate feeling. He has a most promising future.

I'm mighty sorry to see you in such bad shape, Happy. Why don't you cut expenses by using the cheaper cuts of meat? Go over to see PETERS' MARKET. They'll explain how to use the cheaper cuts so that they are just as palatable as the others.

Yes, I know I'm shabby, but I can't pay the butcher and buy new clothes too. I've tried several markets, but they all charge high prices.
