Mist inx Says:

Spring will soon be here! How do I know? I was told the other morning by the most infallible of weather prophets, the wild geese. They ought to know and they generally do.

These gray voyagers of the skies aroused me from a deep slumber on the morning of which I speak. It was barely dawn; the sun had scarcely colored the eastern rim of the horizon. I lay wondering what had awakened me, for my alarm clock was set for some two hours later. Then suddenly I heard it! That indescribable cross between the honk of an old-fashioned, rubber-bulb-operated automobile horn and the high-pitched bay of a far-off hound that is the call of the big Canadian gray goose.

I knew then what had been the cause. That harsh but melodious shriek, though faint in the distance, never fails to reach down into my sleep and arouse some half-buried, atavistic sense or emotion which brings me awake in a moment. The flock was approaching, for the clamor increased. I felt, as always, a strange incomprehensible pounding of my heart and stirring of my blood. Jumping up, I ran to the window and leaned out, watching the sky to the east—for the geese travel almost due west at this particular point in their spring journey northward—and finally was rewarded with the sight of the long, low-flying, gray "V". I watched until they passed out of sight and then, filled with a restlessness I could not explain even to myself, I gave up all thoughts of further sleep and, dressing, went out into the chill dawn for a walk along the lake shore.

This may explain to my wondering boss why I came to work early one morning. Now I am happy but impatient, waiting for the coming spring to arrive. I know it will be here soon for its advance agents, the wild geese, told me so.

Cook County Pays Big Revenue to Road Fund

According to a statement issued this week by Secretary of State Louis L.

Emmerson, Cook County contributed $4,146,988 or more than one-third of the $11,546,206 collected in automobile fees during 1924. This is an increase of $916,718 over the total fees paid by that county in 1923.

Peoria county paid $271,725, leading the downstate counties; St. Clair county paid $255,653; Kane county $237,250; Madison county, $219,872; Winnebago county, $209,671; Sangamon county, $206,024, and LaSalle county $203,732. In 1923 Peoria and St. Clair counties were the only downstate counties paying $200,000 a year.

Hardin county paid $5,635, the smallest amount collected from any county. This is an increase of $1,875 over the previous year.

All of the money collected by the automobile department goes directly into the Good Roads fund and the cost of operation of the office is paid from the general revenue fund.

Of Interest Only to Our Advertisers

Why do we call it a "Roll of Honor"?

Because we think it fitting that honor be done any man or group of men so enterprising and ambitious as to invest in a Full-page Ad. We believe that setting forth one's intentions in so prominent a way indicates a confidence in the value of one's plans and merchandise, and heartens those who are less aggressive. Full-page advertisers should therefore be honored by having their names displayed where everyone may see them.
