

GUILD TO GIVE 'THE YOUNGEST'

Guild Rehearses for Performances on May 2-4

"The Youngest," by Philip Barry is to be the last play of The North Shore Theatre Guild this season. It is to be given in Winnetka on May 2 and May 4.

"The Youngest" is playing in New York City at the present time by a professional company. The Guild was able to procure the right to produce it at this time after great effort and through personal maneuvering. Henry Hull and Genevieve Tobin are playing the leading parts in the professional company. Both are well known in Chicago. The play opened last December and is still running. The Theatre Guild will be the first group to produce it, except the original company.

Philip Barry is a Yale graduate, who studied play-writing with Professor Baker at Harvard. He came into great prominence by winning the Richard Herndon prize with "You and I". This play ran in the Playhouse in Chicago, it will be remembered, last year for three and a half months.

"The Youngest" deals with an American family and the relation of the oldest children to the youngest. The amusing situations and lines result from the turning of the downtrodden worm. It is a combination in its appeal of "Mary the Third," "You and I" and "The Goose Hangs High". It is entirely different from any play, which the Guild has given this year, is delightful and is the popular type of play with which to close the season.
