Few Weeks Remain Before Opening of Annual Summer Opera Season

ELECT NEW OFFICERS

Town Chairmen Direct Sale of Subscriptions

It is but a few weeks now until the Ravinia opera will be in full swing, with the most remarkable assemblage of stars that Louis Eckstein has ever gathered together.

In the meantime, the chairmen of the north shore towns and their assistants are busily engaged in selling subscription books, and interest is increasing day by day as the season approaches.

Chamlee, who is one of the Ravinia singers for this season, was among the notable artists at Mrs. Harrison Riley's garden party Tuesday evening, after the North Shore Festival concert. He was merely passing through the city however, but will return in a short time to stay for the Ravinia season.

Other of the artists who will sing at Ravinia this summer are at present scattered about the world in various countries, but Mr. Eckstein has a golden cord attached to each, and is in frequent communication with his little flock.

Many Stars in Europe

Mme. Raisa is now at her villa near Verona, Mme. Pareto is singing in Spain, Mme. Bori is in Paris from whence she, as well as other Ravinia stars, will bring most gorgeous costumes for their Ravinia roles. Mme. Sundelius, Mme. Maxwell, Mme. Alcock and others will soon arrive, as well as the male contingent which includes many of the best known in opera.

OFFERS HINTS ANENT PARKING COURTESIES

Conservation of parking space as an important step in the betterment of local motoring conditions is being urged by Charles M. Hayes, president of the Chicago Motor club.

Through greater efficiency in the use of available space, he says, it would be far easier to park cars in the downtown section of the city and everybody would be immediately aided.

"A rule suggested by the American Automobile association should be valuable to local motorists," Mr. Hayes explains. "Don't leave your car until you are sure that you have not overlooked any opportunity to accommodate another car. Sometimes your car will be the one that is in need of the spare space. Lack of familiarity with local ordinances is one reason for the present waste of available space. Too many drivers leave their cars too far away from street corners and fire hydrants. They want to play safe, but do not realize this feature is taken care of in the ordinances relating to such matters. They should find out just what the regulations are and then obey them, but not throw in a lot of good space for good measure and thereby inconvenience someone else in the bargain."

"The most wasteful practice is the annoying habit of leaving the rear of the car a foot or two away from the curb. This is plain carelessness, and ought not to be tolerated any more than driving all over the road. The parking hog even goes so far as to cause others to inconvenience everybody while trying to make use of the spaces which would otherwise be easy to get into."

Tourist in Paris Boosts Legion's Fund for Vets

J. Melville Brown, prominent Wilmette citizen and a member of one of the oldest families on the north shore, has mailed a check to Lloyd Hollister, Inc., with the request that it be included in the fund for disabled veterans realized from the recent Winnetka Legion musical production.

Mr. Brown is a subscriber to Wilmette Life, one of the Hollister publications, and is having his home town paper follow him on his tour around the world. While at Paris recently he received a copy of Life containing the Winnetka Legion Pink Supplement describing the "Married at 3" production of the Winnetka Post.

Mr. Brown forthwith mailed a check to help the cause along.

"When we read the appeal," he writes, "we wished we were home to do our share, but, not being on our beloved north shore, we enclose a check and ask you to kindly put it where it belongs."

Fires in Homes Bring Out Fire Department

The Winnetka fire department was called to extinguish two small fires during the past week. The home of A. A. Cutting, 969 Elm street, was slightly damaged Saturday afternoon when an overheated furnace set fire to the basement. A defective fireplace in the home of P. S. Williamson, 558 Hill terrace set fire to the floor Sunday causing a damage of $275, according to the estimates of Fire Chief Houren.

"Persephone," Festival Note for Kindergartners

"Persephone," loveliest of myths, gives promise of being the loveliest of festivals as interpreted by students of the National Kindergarten and Elementary college in their annual spring festival at the Evanston Country club Wednesday evening, June 3, and Thursday afternoon, June 4.

The myth, brought into being through the love of beauty in nature which enriched the lives of the ancient Greeks, portrays with exquisite grace the story of Persephone, interwoven with the varying moods of nature throughout the changing seasons.

Through waving grain and ripened vineyard, down to the verge of the sea comes light-footed Persephone. She plays with the waves and the sea nymphs until suddenly Pluto appears and carries her off to brighten his dreary kingdom in the realms of night. Her mother, Demeter, searches in vain through the sear, barren earth until, guided by the spirit of the fountain, she seeks Helios, the Sun God amid the clouds and sunbeams. Helios tells Demeter where Persephone is to be found and sends Mercury, the messenger of the Gods, to bring her back to her mother.

Before Demeter's wondering eyes the brown, scorched earth begins to turn radiantly green. Seeking the cause of the miracle Demeter turns and beholds Mercury returning with Persephone. At her approach the flowers bloom, birds burst into song, all nature awakes, for spring has returned with Persephone.

New Trier Track Men Capture League Meet

Wing-footed wearers of the Green and Grey, colors showed their heels to the other tracksters of the Suburban league last Saturday at Evanston, when the New Trier Track team won the Track Relay championship. Evanston and Oak Park were runners-up. The scores—New Trier 19, Evanston 15, Oak Park 12, Morton 4, Waukegan 3, and Proviso 2.

New Trier Juniors were nosed out by one point by Evanston. The scores—Evanston 11, New Trier 10, Oak Park 6, Proviso 5, Waukegan 1. A large crowd attended the meet.

There are to be two more meets to finally decide the track championship, including a field meet at Oak Park Friday. With the Green and Grey track stars off to a lead on the first leg of this year's championship and most of them expected back next year, track prospects at New Trier certainly appear rosy right now.
