

GIRLS TO WIN TOUR OF WORLD

Illinois Products Exposition
Sponsors Contests for Girls of State

GIVE 2 FIRST AWARDS

One Prize for Downstate
and Other Upstate

The Illinois Chamber of Commerce this week officially announced its plan by which two Illinois girls—one from Chicago and one from downstate—will be sent around the world this autumn as guests of the Illinois Products Exposition, with all their expenses paid.

Four Illinois girls—two from downstate and two from Chicago—will accompany the Illinois Queens for a tour around the United States through the Panama Canal.

The downstate girls will not be handicapped by competing with Chicago girls and the award rules have been so drawn that the downstate girl has an equal chance of winning the major prize regardless of the population of her town.

The award to the six girls will be made in conjunction with the advance sale of tickets to the Illinois Products Exposition, to be held in Chicago at the American Exposition Palace, October 8 to 17. The campaign will be conducted as it was last year by the Illinois Chamber of Commerce in co-operation with the Chicago Daily News.

The official announcement was made by Wayne Hummer of La Salle, Ill., general chairman of the exposition, and president of the Bankers' association, at a joint luncheon of the exposition's board of governors and exhibitors at the Morrison hotel.

Sail November 25

The two Illinois "queens" and their "maids of honor" will sail from New York on the President Polk of the Robert Dollar line on November 26, 1925. They will touch at Havana, Panama Canal, Los Angeles and San Francisco (from which port the "maids of honor" return home), Hawaii, Manila, Japan, China, India, Cairo, Alexandria, Italy, Southern France, with two weeks in Paris, and home via Cherbourg or England. All expenses of the cruises will be paid by the Illinois Products exposition.

The Robert Dollar Steamship line has assumed full responsibility for the safety of the girls, and will arrange numerous functions for the Illinois "queens" at the various foreign ports visited.

Nominations of contestants may be made by members of the local chambers of commerce in Illinois or by exhibitors in the Illinois Products exposition or by civic or community organizations.

More Exhibits this Year

The meeting of the exposition board and exhibitors was featured by the report that last year's record of 35 Illinois cities outside of Chicago participating in the exposition already had been surpassed in signed contracts, and that the total would probably exceed 50.

The southern Illinois group, including 20 cities south of the Vandalia railroad, have paid deposits on 20 booths, and will show to northern Illinois and the rest of the world their mineral and agricultural resources and products. Peoria leads with the largest individual reservation—18 booths. Practically every city of consequence in the state will be represented in the exposition, which is confined to products "made or grown in Illinois." Wilmette and Winnetka Chambers of Commerce have contracted for booths.

C. V. Gregory, vice chairman of the new industries committee, reported progress in the campaign to induce eastern manufacturers to locate in Illinois because of its numerous and unquestioned advantages.

Expect 200,000 Visitors

One hundred and sixteen thousand people—60 percent of whom were from outside of Chicago—visited the exposition last year. It is anticipated that with the increased interest in the state exposition, aroused by the advance ticket sale campaign and the world cruises for the best girl "salesman" of Illinois, the attendance next October will reach 200,000.

Nominations may be made now and up to August 22, at which time the campaign will officially open.

Inquiries may be addressed to A. R. Shaffer, director Advance Ticket campaign, Illinois Chamber of Commerce, 438 Otis building, Chicago. Full information and details will then be immediately mailed.
