

Social Happenings

The spotlight of athletic and social interest has been turned on Skokie club this week, where a galaxy of stars in the tennis world at large as well as local luminaries, have been displaying their skill in a contest for the championship of the state of Illinois. The stands have been crowded with residents of Chicago and the entire north shore who have turned out to cheer their favorites whether the wheel of chance has turned favorably or adversely for them.

The clubhouse and grounds have thronged with society in gay attire, and the visiting players have been fetted as much as their training hours and the rigor of the matches permitted. Wednesday evening the club was host at a large dinner-dance given in honor of its distinguished visitors who were entrants in the tourney.
