Winnetskans Have Narrow Escape in Storm on Lake

Frederick Rummmler, son of E. A. Rummmler of 1015 Starr road, Winnetka, and Fred Stoddard, also of Winnetka, had a narrow escape from drowning in the lake off the coast near Muskegon, Mich., late Wednesday night when a storm overtook the yawl "Seacall", owned and sailed by William R. Rummmler, Chicago patent attorney, with whom they were sailing, and drove it on the beach.

The incident occurred seven miles from the city and coast guards had considerable difficulty in effecting a rescue. Heavy seas kept the rescue party from approaching the yawl and it was not until Hugo Kanitz, Jr., a Muskegon high school football star, swam out and retrieved a line and put it aboard that the party was taken off.

William R. Rummmler is a brother of E. A. Rummmler of Winnetka, and has his offices at 7 S. Dearborn street, Chicago. His home is at 9237 S. Winchester avenue. Mr. Rummmler is a member of the Chicago Yacht club and had left for a cruise on Saturday. Mrs. Rummmler and their four children, Adelaide, 11 years old, Joseph, 20 years old, Madeline, 15 years old and Robert, 5 years old, were on the boat when the storm hit it.

GLENWOOD SCHOOL BOYS GIVEN ANNUAL OUTING

The annual outing for boys of the Glenwood Manual Training school graduating class, through the generosity of Edward B. Butler president of the school, promises to be an unusually happy event this year.

Forty-four of the class left Glenwood Monday morning by auto bus for Ottawa and Starved Rock. Equipped with pup tents and a commissary department the boys will camp Monday and Tuesday at Starved Rock, exploring the canyons and learning the historic traditions of the place from C. Baldwin, a pioneer and lifelong resident in that locality.

Through the courtesy of Judge Harry Reck of La Salle county, and Lee Carroll, secretary of the Ottawa Chamber of Commerce, the boys will be entertained at dinner on Wednesday, at Ottawa by the Chamber of Commerce.

Glenwood Training school is Chicago's largest charity for underprivileged boys. Its work has been of particular interest to Rotary clubs.

Ernest S. Ballard of Winnetka is a director of the school.

300 Members of Schaefer Family Enjoy Get-Together

The third annual reunion of the Schaefer family of the north shore was celebrated last Sunday in the Glenview Forest Preserve with about 300 members of the well known "clan" in attendance.

Field events, baseball games and picnic food featured the day's activities. In the ball game the single men were pitted against the boys "of that married look," with the first named taking the contest in 10 innings 9 to 6.

In the Interest of Truth—

The statement was recently published by another oil burner company that "In one year's time its burner outsold any other burner in this territory two to one."

Kleen-Heet has no controversy with other oil burners. But this fact is of interest to you as a prospective purchaser:

During the twelve months referred to, 45 more Kleen-Heets have actually been installed in this same territory than the other burner claimed.

Furthermore, while the other burner listed a total to date of 148 installations here on the North Shore, Kleen-Heet's total is 384—far more than double the other's record!

We shall be glad to have you talk with any of these Kleen-Heet users.
