

GIVE HINTS TO AUTO CAMPERS

Vacationers Warned to Guard Their Health

"Millions of our citizens will get out into the open country this year, and will pitch camps wherever they find themselves at the close of day," says Charles M. Hayes, president of the Chicago Motor club. "Thomas Edison recently said that he considered motor camping one of the most beneficial results of the use of the automobile.

"But it must not be supposed that the camper can acquire a store of health without taking the proper precautions to guard against infection.

"The country bristles with hazards to health. Learn those hazards and your camping expedition will have no tragic conclusion.

"The majority of people who go camping have very little experience in camp sanitation, and the radical change from life in the city or town to life in the wilds finds them without knowledge of the simple precautions necessary for health.

Camp on a Slope

"The amateur camper is likely to pick the first shady nook that appeals to him as a suitable spot for camping. If he pitches his tent in a valley he is likely to have an unpleasant experience if it rains. The tent should be pitched on a slope with the front facing south.

"Be certain that the water you use comes from a safe source. Do your own chlorinating if its purity is suspected.

"The babbling brook may be very beautiful, but it may be very deadly, and the old oaken bucket is no doubt better suited to poetry than to practical use. It may harbor a colony of typhoid germs.

"Less dangerous than impure water but annoying and painful is contact with poison ivy. When in fruit poison ivy is laden with cream colored berries. It has three beautiful green leaves spinging from a common stem, and it runs along the ground unless provided with a support to climb.

"Impure milk is another source of infection among campers. Milk should be cooled at once, and put on ice.

"Remember, that no garbage wagon drives through the cool aisles of the forest. Rubbish and garbage should be burned or it will become a breeding place for flies."

Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, Chicago commissioner of health, has issued some vacation "Dont's" quoted by Mr. Hayes as follows:

"Don't go bathing on a full stomach; wait at least two hours after eating.

"Don't continue to swim until you are exhausted.

"Don't swim if you have heart trouble.

"Don't swim without accurate knowledge of the depth of the water.

"Don't go canoeing unless you can swim.

"Don't neglect the slightest injury. Remember the danger of lockjaw from neglected injuries.

"Don't eat greasy foods. Make at least one meal of green vegetables and fruits."

BEGIN ILLINI TICKET SALES

First Grid Battle Scheduled for October 3

Plenty of football tickets for the general public and a "painless" method of distribution is the reassuring news from the University of Illinois as the football ticket office makes ready to mail out application blanks and complete information on how to get the pasteboards qualifying one to observe Capt. Red Grange and his Illini in their fall performances.

There isn't anything difficult about ordering tickets, the Illini say. They will begin to mail out all the dope the middle of August, to subscribers to the stadium and other fans whose names appear on the mailing list of the football ticket office. All one needs to do to get on the mailing list is to send in one's name and address. The Illini also plan to send application blanks to banks, clubs and other places.

The three big games in the stadium for which seats will be reserved are Nebraska, October 3; Michigan, October 24, and Chicago, November 7. Seats for Butler, October 10, and Wabash, November 14, will not be reserved. The seating capacity will be 67,000. The Illini kind of think that there will be a packed stadium for both the Michigan and Chicago games but they think that there will be tickets practically up to the last minute, so one is not to believe any early stories that "all seats are sold."

Paid-to-date subscribers to the stadium have a running start on other fans in having their orders filled and this is no more than just; considering that their generosity made the stadium possible. Many subscribers, who have been dilatory with their payments, are hustling in their checks. But this need not worry the non-subscribers—all they have to do to get the seats they want is to order reasonably early. The ticket office plans to begin mailing out tickets for all games on September 1. "No personal checks" is the edict that is going out—so the fans will have to use drafts or money orders. All tickets will be sent by registered mail, for which the fans are asked to enclose registry fee.

Two Guarantees of Integrity

LOOK to the record of the motor car you buy. How long has it been in the field? Has it a long successful past, growing better and better with the advance of modern engineering? Is it a newcomer, yet to be tried at the hands of the purchaser?

REO needs no argument—no apology. It is indeed "the gold standard of values." It has a background of successful performance and sound organization.

That is your first REO guarantee. And the other, no less important, is the firm that sells it to you. You may never see the factory. You may never have contact of any kind with it. It's your local representative in whom your faith counts. And REO service on the North Shore has all the integrity of the parent organization itself.
