

OPEN BIG RADIO SHOW NEXT WEEK

North Shore Fans Urged to Attend Chicago Exhibit

A place of attraction for north shore fans during the week of September 28 to October 3, will be the National Exposition and the Allied Radio Congress combined, at the National Exposition Palace, 666 Lake Shore drive, Chicago. Virtually all the manufacturers of radio sets and equipment in the country and a majority of the dealers of the Central West will be represented at the show with attractive booths and displays.

The early holding of the show in advance of the active radio season is to give the public a peep at the newest things and to acquaint them with the latest developments in radio. Most of the exhibits will be shipped direct from the two radio shows now in progress in New York. The Chicago show is looked on as being an amalgamation of the Eastern ones.

At the National Radio Exposition amateur set builders will be allowed to display their ingenious works, and prizes will be awarded to those judged to have entered the best set. This contest is open to all. High school youths especially are invited to enter.

Radio fans attending the show will find plenty of diverting entertainment every afternoon and evening it is promised. Chicago broadcasting stations will pass in review before their admirers and will "do their stuff" just as it is done at the home station.

Fans at the show will be called on to vote in a popularity contest for their favorite entertainers and to decide for the benefit of local stations, the type of musical program, jazz, classical, operatic or old-time music they prefer.

A strike vote against stations broadcasting on Mondays or Silent Nights will also be recorded, to find whether fans favor their continuance.

The entertainment at the show and the balloting will be conducted by the Broadcast Listeners Association of America, which will have a booth and a comprehensive exhibit.

Mrs. A. Pedersen, 893 Willow road, will entertain the Dorcas society, Tuesday evening, September 29, at 8 o'clock.

GRANGE GETS BIG TEST IN CORNHUSKERS GAME

Capt. Red Grange will lead the University of Illinois football team against the strong University of Nebraska eleven in the first game of the season in the Missouri First National Stadium Saturday, October 3. Although this is the first game, it is far different from the usual "practice" contest. Nebraska is usually the champion of the Missouri valley and the Cornhuskers in 1922 and 1923 defeated Notre Dame.

Instead Nebraska is one of the three big games in the Illinois stadium this season. The whole sporting world will look to the Illini amphitheater that day. From New York is coming a delegation of sports writers, headed by Grantland Rice, dean of the corps. All of the big news reels and news photograph syndicates will have their photographers on the field. Everybody wants to see Red Grange start the 1925 season.

Bob Zuppke says that it will require the best performances of Grange, backed up by a good line and excellent team work, to repulse the Cornhuskers. Two years ago Grange made his first appearance in varsity football against Nebraska, scoring three touchdowns on the team which afterwards licked Notre Dame. Last year at Lincoln, Grange did not score a touchdown in the tight game which Illinois won, 9 to 7, but Red did throw the pass which spelled victory. It is a cinch that Red will play the greater part if not every bit of the Nebraska game. If it is as tough a game as the Illini expect he will be in there every minute.

The Illini expect to entertain the biggest first game crowd in history.

Find "Y" School Is Genuine "Melting Pot"

Chicago as a "melting pot" is strikingly illustrated in the evening high school of the Central Y. M. C. A., where nineteen foreign nations are represented by 45 native-born sons, according to records compiled yesterday by H. L. Buck, principal, following the opening of the school year.

An analysis of a group of 234 new students reveals that 62 percent had one or both parents born in 25 different foreign nations.

Intelligence tests applied to the new students showed a high average intellectual level for high school students. Twenty-eight percent have an I. Q. or intelligence quotient, which is the unit of measurement in the tests, of 105 or above. Seventy-seven, or 33 percent of the group, measured 95 or above.

Libertyville and Mundelein —easily reached on the North Shore Line

LARGE numbers of people are visiting Libertyville and Mundelein these lovely fall days.

Thousands are seeking the natural splendors of this beautiful vicinity—the rolling hills, the stately oaks, the lively fall colorings.

Others are interested in the great new home development that is taking place in this attractive section.

Every day we are asked how to get there. Every day, too, we are asked about the new Skokie Valley Division of the North Shore Line which will bring faster service to Libertyville, Mundelein and the entire Lake County Countryside.

Here is the way to reach Libertyville and Mundelein now—a short, pleasant journey. Take the North Shore Line to Lake Bluff. Transfer there to the Libertyville-Mundelein Division of the North Shore Line. Trains leave every 30 minutes from Adams and Wabash, and from Wilson and Broadway.

New High-Speed Service Over Skokie Valley Division Early in 1926

Early in 1926, the new high-speed Skokie Valley Division of the North Shore Line will be completed. Fast, frequent service will then be available from Libertyville and Mundelein direct to downtown Chicago — without change or transfer.

The Libertyville-Mundelein Division has recently been double tracked to meet the growing needs of this locality. Foreseeing the early development of this desirable section, the North Shore Line is preparing fully to meet the transportation requirements of the thousands of home seekers who even now are laying their plans to live there.
