VILLAGE THEATRE

"The Lost World," Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's great imaginative masterpiece, will be shown at the Village theatre Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, October 5, 6 7 and 8. With it will be shown Monday and Tuesday, a comedy and a Pathe news reel, and Wednesday and Thursday a Pathe review and an Aesop's Fable. "The Lost World" has a notable cast which includes Bessie Love, Lewis Stone, Lloyd Hughes, Wallace Beery, Bull Montana and others.

Friday and Saturday "Kivalina of the Ice Lands," a film of the Arctic, will be shown for the first time on the north shore. With it will be shown a Harold Lloyd comedy revival, "Never Weaken" and a Pathe news reel. "Kivalina of the Ice Lands" is a real picture of the north, an amazing story of primitive life under the northern lights. All of the actors are Eskimos and most of the scenes were taken near the village of Koogalook, which is only about 1,000 miles from the north pole.

THE NEW EVANSTON

Schubert Olympic

The Olympic theatre, long a landmark on Chicago's Rialto, is now the Shubert Olympic. New paint and new chairs have worked wonders. One would hardly recognize the old place where vaudeville, burlesque and what not reigned for so many years.

To open it in style the Messrs. Shubert have brought "Sky-High" and Willie Howard from New York and the crowds milling around the spacious Randolph street lobby indicate a wise choice. Mr. Howard, frequently identified as the "funny one" of the Howard Brothers of Winter Garden and vaudeville fame, dominates the proceedings through three acts, works hard and earnestly and is entitled to the extensive praise his audience gives. He sings songs in his own individual manner, does an imitation or two well above the average and handles a running line of comedy in a manner decidedly superior to the usual type of Jewish comedian.

"Sky-High" is typical musical comedy, pretentiously presented. Its plot has to do with a case of mistaken identity whereby a barber assumes the role of a marquis with the usual comedy results. As musical comedy plots go it is entirely satisfactory since it allows ample time for numerous songs and more numerous dances. A chorus of some 25 girls and half as many boys certainly keep things moving. Their training has been excellent and individually they excel most of the similar groups you have seen of recent months. If it's dancing you want, here it is in pleasurable abundance!

Assisting Mr. Howard in his endeavors are such well known people as Conchita Piquer, Isabella Fosta, John Quinlan and Florenz Ames.

For next Monday and Tuesday, October 5 and 6, the management of the New Campus theatre will offer Frank Bacon's record-breaking stage success with Jay Hunt as "Lightin' Bill Jones" as presented on the screen by William Fox. It is a John Ford production.

"Kivalina of the Ice Lands," the film story of love, devotion and peril in the shadow of the Northern Lights, will be shown at the New Campus on next Wednesday. It is said that this picture has scenes showing the beauties of the Northern Lights which are distinctly worthwhile in themselves.

For the Saturday attraction the New Campus will offer Buck Jones in a thrilling film called "The Timber Wolf," the romance of a man both feared and loved.
