

ADD 13 NEW TEACHERS TO NEW TRIER ROSTER

Work of Secondary School Started With Best Organization In Its History

Thirteen new instructors were added to the faculty of New Trier Township High school this year, bringing the total number of teachers at the secondary school to 77, or two more than comprised the staff in 1924-25.

This information from the high school executive offices also adds the interesting bit of news that three of the faculty members are former students of the school.

Enrollment statistics at the school this fall indicate an increase of about 70 students over the attendance last year, but the increase has been absorbed into the school population in such a way as to require the services of but two additional teachers, according to Superintendent Frederick E. Clerk.

"The work of the school," Superintendent Clerk states, "has started with the best organization the school has ever had. We went through a regular program of classes the first day and held regular recitations the second day. The re-organized scheme of registration which classified students in June for the coming year seems to save us a matter of several days in getting school started in the fall."

Instructors added to the faculty roster this term are:

Aveline G. Kent, department of English; F. D. Frisbie, John M. Nay and Emelyn Waltz, History department; Lucille Brady, Latin department; Lillian Kroll and Ruth B. Sinclair, library; Walter J. Achenbach, Jr., Dorothy King and Clarence Minnema, mathematics; Mrs. Winnifred S. Downing, music; May P. Fogg, and Mrs. Virginia B. Pope, physical education.

Of the new teachers Emelyn Waltz, Dorothy King and Mrs. Pope are former students at New Trier.

Mr. Aschenbach is also head coach of football.

Nursery School Has Ideal Location for Its Effective Work

The Community Nursery school has leased the small house, remodeled by Vanhorn, at 769 Locust street for school quarters and a school home for Director Corinne Fitzpatrick. The roll of the school is almost completed, of children ranging from 3 to 5 years of age, who will attend from 9 to 11:30 o'clock each morning beginning October 5.

The idea has been to equip a small home entirely for children, affording them opportunity for both directed and free activities in hand crafts, manual training, nature-study, music, French, out-door games and free play. The school has a tiny craft-shop, manual training shop, play room, attic for rainy days, playground, and is near the fields and woods.

The school building will be used later for afternoon clubs for those children who have already progressed to other schools. It has been equipped by gifts from parents interested in the work and the year's staff will be made up later on from Winnetka mothers displaying aptitude for the work.
