New Skokie Valley Division

will bring high-speed electrified transportation to one of Chicago's most attractive home areas

FOURTEEN thousand inhabitants for every square mile of its area—that is the average density of population in Chicago. Compare this with Kansas City, which houses only 5,593 people per square mile; or with New Orleans, which has a population of 2,175 per square mile; or with Los Angeles, where there is an average of only 1,563 inhabitants to each square mile.

Such comparisons make one realize the great need for new, spacious suburban communities within easy commuting distance of Chicago—communities accessible to the city, yet removed from its bustle and congestion. The new Skokie Valley Division of the North Shore Line, now under construction, will help to fill this great need.

Early in 1926, this new Division will be completed. Then will be available a fast, frequent, electrified transportation service direct from Libertyville and Mundelein, in the Lake County Countryside, to the loop district of Chicago. Already, the North Shore Line serves these attractive towns; any North Shore Line ticket agent will tell you how to get there. But service will be faster—and direct-without-change—when the new high-speed Division is completed.

This beautiful, rolling, wooded home section already possesses city conveniences—electricity, gas, water, stores and schools. Now comes the final and most important of all necessities—high-speed transportation!
