Before the Plans Are Drawn

(The second of a series of advertisements)

EVERY HOME, from bungalow to mansion, has its beginning in a few rough lines sketched by the prospective builder himself. At this stage of inception, a conference with our service department may prove extremely profitable.

The advance suggestions that we'll be glad to give will in no way encroach upon the field of the architect and of the contractor. In fact, it will assist us in forming a basis for closer cooperation with both which will be mutually advantageous.

Before the plans are drawn—that is the time to let Hubbard Woods service begin working for you.
