

SAVE TWO BOYS FROM LAKE; THIRD DROWNS

Motorcycle Policeman George Schaefer Leads Heroic Rescue Crew in Sunday Tragedy

Braving heavy waves and high winds in a frail and leaky sailboat and using boards for paddles, Motorcycle Policeman George Schaefer of Wilmette led three other men in a daring rescue of two boys clinging to an overturned canoe in the lake off Kenilworth early Sunday evening. A third boy, who attempted to swim to shore before the rescuers arrived at the scene, was drowned.

The others who aided in the rescue were I. A. Bennett, 185 Sheridan road, Kenilworth, wealthy Chicago business man, and William Salmis and James Mindly, of 1105 Lake avenue, Wilmette. The boys who were rescued were Edward Reder, 16 years old, 2335 Larrabee street and James Minogue, 14 years old, 438 Belden avenue, both of Chicago. Their comrade, who died in the attempt to swim to shore, was Richard Brooks, 15 years old, 669 Wrightwood avenue, Chicago.

Use Boards as Oars

It was about 5:30 o'clock Sunday evening when Bennett, who was sitting with his family in their house on the lake front, heard cries for help from the lake. In the growing dusk the overturned craft with the boys clinging to it could just be distinguished. Bennett telephoned to the Wilmette and Kenilworth police and the first response came when Motorcycle Policeman Schaefer arrived. He noticed an old sailboat lying on the beach and urged the others to help launch it. Using boards for oars, Schaefer and his crew rowed out to where the boys clung to the canoe, almost ready to release their holds from cold and exposure. When they had pulled one into the boat the wind caught the sail, and drove the rescuers some distance from the stricken craft, which seemed about ready to sink. Finally they managed to tear the sail from the mast and then paddle back just in time to drag the remaining boy aboard before his strength gave out.

Aided by Householder

The boys were taken to the Bennett home where they were given first aid treatment. H. C. Hinzpeter, 212 Sheridan road, provided complete outfits of clothes for the boys and they were taken to the Wilmette police station where their parents called for them later in the evening.

They told the police that they had entered a boathouse by forcing the door with a heavy chisel, looking for shotguns, when the canoe was discovered. They decided to take the craft and paddle south to Chicago, but when they had gone a little way Brooks, who was the only one who knew how to handle the craft, or how to swim, attempted to stand up and walk from one end to the other, thus tipping it over. The Evanston coast guard station searched for Brooks' body for several days but it has not yet been found. The lad was said to have sunk when about 75 feet from the shore.
