

CHURCH CHOIR ENJOYS NOVEL DINNER PROGRAM

Music Committee of Congregational Church Arranges Dinner of Unusual Success

For some months past many of those who have been in attendance at Sunday morning services in the Winnetka Congregational church have been lavish in their praise of the efforts of an adult choir of some 40 voices. Few, however, have been conscious of the evenings of effort put forth by that group in preparation for these services. Those who realized it most were the respective husbands and wives of its members who were compelled to remain at home while rehearsals were in progress.

The music committee of the church, sensing a chance for the greatest amount of cooperation by those concerned, issued invitations for a dinner which was held in Community House Tuesday evening of this week to which members of the choir and the other adult members of their families were invited.

Here, those who do not sing were treated to rare music by those more gifted. Talented individuals surprised their listeners with solos that were highly appreciated. A spirit such as can only be developed by music was decidedly evident and caused considerable comment by those who attended.

Community Sing Features

Community singing before and during the dinner was indulged in and a program of solo numbers following the dinner was given by Mrs. Tarrant, Miss Bradford, Mrs. Bartlett, and Mr. Rettie. Mrs. John Marshall gave one of her interesting readings and a quartet consisting of Mrs. Locke, Mrs. Prouty, Mr. Ratcliffe and Mr. Morphett, sang two numbers.

Dr. J. F. W. Davies gave an inspiring talk about music in which he sketched through history and his own personal experiences the effect that music has had on various people at different times. He ended his talk with a few excellent suggestions which he believed a church attendant would make to any choir.

At the close of the program a typical choir practice was indulged in to which the attending husbands and wives were invited and which they seemed to find most interesting.

The dinner was in charge of Mrs. Charles J. Eastman who was assisted by Mrs. R. J. Locke. Thomas Ratcliffe was active in the preparations and Charles J. Eastman led the community singing and served as toastmaster at the dinner.

Mrs. Sidney Eastman, 359 Melrose avenue, Kenilworth, entertained at luncheon Thursday at Glenview Golf club for Mrs. Culbertson and her cousin, Mrs. Mengies, who leave for Pasadena Tuesday. On Saturday at 12 o'clock, Mrs. Sidney Eastman entertained at a breakfast for Mrs. d'Aix.
