

FORUM OPENS SUNDAY

Prohibition is First Subject of Discussion Before Newly Formed Civic Enterprise for Greater Chicago

A prominent Chicago "wet" and an equally prominent Chicago "dry" will take up the cudgels for and against prohibition at the first nonpartisan inquest on the 18th amendment to be held in Chicago, Sunday afternoon, November 1, at the Apollo theatre, it was announced this week by Fred Atkins Moore, director of the Chicago Forum council, which opens its first season with a meeting on the theme "Can Prohibition Succeed?"

F. Ernest Johnson, research secretary of the Federal Council of Churches, whose impartial report on the prohibition situation created a sensation when it was made public recently, will open the meeting with a statement of the six year experience of the United States with prohibition and a forecast of American policy on the liquor question.

Himself a dry of long standing, Mr. Johnson feels that neither the wets nor the dries have faced the facts about the 18th amendment and his report on prohibition was disconcerting to many who have pronounced opinions on the question. Rev. Dr. Clarence True Wilson, secretary of the board of temperance, prohibition and public morals of the Methodist Episcopal church demanded that the Federal Council of Churches repudiate the Johnson report in a recent address before the Rock River conference of the denomination to which both Mr. Johnson and Dr. Wilson belong but the council after much discussion sustained Mr. Johnson who has conducted many researches for the Protestant churches into social and economic questions.

Council is Neutral

"The Chicago Forum Council, which is bringing Mr. Johnson to Chicago, is neither for nor against prohibition as a national policy," Mr. Moore explained. "We have in our membership men and women of differing shades of opinion and differing social views and our sole interest is to make available to the citizens of greater Chicago, facts about questions of vital interest on the basis of which they can form their own judgements. Prohibition is one of the most discussed questions of the hour and there is such a diversity of testimony as to the facts about the operation of the 18th amendment that the civic leaders on our council thought it wise to open a winter's discussion of current issues with a searching analysis of the liquor question."

S. J. Duncan-Clark of Wilmette and Mrs. B. F. Langworthy and Harold L. Ickes of Winnetka are members of the Forum council board of directors.

The New Coats Choose Many Ways To Smartness

Some rely successfully on the wrap-around effect that women love to snuggle into and pull closely about them, using deep shawl collars, or stole collars of rich fur. Others adopt the new vogue for the flared silhouette, while a few of unusual smartness choose the Princess silhouette with molded bodice and full swinging skirt.

Style Features That Are Distinctively New

The Pile Fabrics

Deep, lustrous pile fabrics are prominent among the luxurious-ly fur-trimmed Coats—Needlepoint, Lustrosa, Veloura and Suede are so well adapted to the lines of the season.

Brown and Green

Touchan green and Cuckoo brown, selected by so many smartly dressed women for their winter wraps are prominent in this group. In close favor are Gracklehead, Bokahara Black and Gray.

The Smart Lines

Flares, Side Panels, Straight-lines and Wrap-around models vie with each other for smartness.

Trimmings of Fur

They are Squirrel, Beaver, Fitch, Marten and Ringtail Opossum, enriching collars and cuffs.
