The annual dinner-dance to be given by the Cradle society Tuesday evening, November 24, at the Opera club, will have as a special feature, an auction sale of Christmas dolls conducted by Louis Wallheim of the "What Price Glory" company; and Miss Mary Nash and Miss Florence Nash, playing in "A Lady's Virtue," will also take part in the program.

Among the patronesses for the affair are Mrs. Joseph Husband, Mrs. Thomas Hair, Mrs. Frederick Scott, Mrs. John Stuart, and Mrs. Morris Wilson, all of Winnetka.

Hunting Pheasants Is Oh, My, So Expensive

Evan and Earl are nimrods of no mean ability. That was conclusively substantiated late last week when the youthful hunters fared forth to the wilds near Libertyville and, forthwith, bagged themselves some prize pheasants. That the birds were real treasures was evidenced by the fact that a stealthy game-warden, who happened along—opportunistically, or inopportunistically, as you wish—invited the sharpshooters to a little journey to Barrington where the fowls were officially "priced" at $80.

Evan's pater was among those present at the hunt. But fortunately, wasn't such a good hunter.

The pheasant season is on and there is a wealth of game, but, one must not shoot the birds of gentler sex. So Evan and Earl have told us.

Stormy Weather Ahead

Winter with his stock of ice, snow and zero weather is close at hand.

Have you noticed the happy look on the fellow who lives in a brick house? He is not worried, his fuel bill for the winter supply is low and his home is easy to keep warm. Let Winter storm and throw his ice and snow, turn loose his blizzards and zero weather.

The fellow in a brick house does not worry about winter or in fact any of the seasons.

When it is cold his house is warm. When it is hot his house is cool. No painting or repair bills for him. He was wise when he built. He is happy now.
