News and Reviews

VILLAGE THEATRE

For the special benefit of the children of the village a new Pathe serial, "Wild West," will be shown at the matinee performance every Tuesday afternoon, beginning this week, November 24. The serial is a thrilling story of circus and western life, featuring Jack Mulhall and Helen Ferguson. It will be shown at the matinee only.

Monday and Tuesday, November 23 and 24, the feature attraction will be "Thank You," a Fox picture featuring Jacqueline Logan, George O'Brien and Alec B. Francis. This picture is taken from John Golden's stage hit. A Kelly color reel, a Pathe news reel and "Cheer Up," an Educational comedy will complete the bill. All the ministers of the village are invited to see this picture free of charge.

Wednesday and Thursday, November 25 and 26, Hoot Gibson will be seen in "The Calgary Stampede," a thrilling picture built around Canada's greatest rodeo. Also there will be a Larry Semon comedy, "The Clodhopper" and a Pathe review. There will be two matinee's on Thursday, Thanksgiving day, one at 2 o'clock and one at 4 o'clock.

Friday and Saturday, November 27 and 28, Reginald Denny will be seen in a fast moving comedy entitled "Where Was I?" In addition there will be an Our Gang comedy, "Boys Will be Joys" and a Pathe news reel.

HOYBURN THEATRE

Our old friend Charles Ray, the appealing country boy of so many pictures, will be seen next week in his new one, "Bright Lights," at the Hoyburn theatre on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, November 23, 24 and 25. Critics have rated this as a first class picture, with a strong supporting cast headed by Pauline Starke.

Richard Barthelmess, the darling of the screen, will be seen Thursday, Friday and Saturday, November 26, 27 and 28, in "Shore Leave" the best picture he has done since "Broken Blossoms." He is entirely different in this picture from any previous part he has played. He is a "scream" as a tough sailor, and his "buddy" is even more so. In addition there will be shown a Buster Brown comedy, "Buster Busts Up."

THE NEW EVANSTON

Gloria Swanson has come into her own again in this latest picture "Stage Struck," which will be shown at the New Evanston all the coming week, beginning Monday, November 23. All the gorgeous settings and gowns which have helped her to rank with the greatest beauties of the screen in the past are as nothing compared with those seen in this picture. The story is excellent, critics have agreed, and the supporting cast is strong. You'll all want to see "Stage Struck." There will also be a Helen and Warren comedy, "Peacemaker."

HOWARD THEATRE

Harold Lloyd in his latest and greatest comedy hit, "The Freshman", will be seen at the Howard theatre on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of this week, November 23, 24, 25, and 26. This is the picture that drove Chicago audiences almost into hysterics during a long run in the loop. It is said to be by far the funniest picture he has ever produced, and that is going some.

On Friday and Saturday, November 27 and 28, "Bright Lights" featuring Charles Ray and Pauline Starke will be the feature attraction. All those who are Ray fans will enjoy this picture. It has a strong cast to support the stars. Included in the program will be a comedy, "Should Sailors Marry?" and the usual news reel and other features.

INVITE MINISTERS TO SHOW

All ministers in the village are invited to attend, free of charge, the picture which will be shown at the Village theater next Monday and Tuesday, November 23 and 24.

The film is "Thank You," which William Fox produced from the John Golden stage success under the direction of John Ford.

Appearing in the principal role of the picture, that of the small-town minister whose hardships and poverty form the basis for the story, is Alec B. Francis, veteran character actor of stage and screen. It is a part that "fits him like a glove." He gives a rare performance, investing the character of the patient, long-suffering man of the Gospel with a fidelity and sympathy seldom seen in pictures. And he manages to afford his audiences a chuckle now and then by his whimsical philosophy under adversity.

George O'Brien and Jacqueline Logan have the romantic leads of the picture, the latter being cast as Diane, niece of the pastor, and the former as Kenneth Jamieson, young city collegian, who comes to the village to look after some property—and immediately forgets it in his sudden love for the delectable Diane!

Both Mr. O'Brien and Miss Logan have roles that give them wide latitude for displaying their individualities and talents.

Cast as the father of young Jamieson will be seen George Fawcett, and his performance always can be counted on to be without a flaw. He lives up to all expectations in "Thank You"—which is saying enough.

Another famous character actor appearing in this picture is J. Farrell MacDonald, who won his first great fame as Corporal Casey in "The Iron Horse" but who has many other notable screen achievements to his credit.

Then there is James Neill, remembered for his excellent portrayal of Aaron in "The Ten Commandments." Mr. Neill, also a character actor of many successes on stage and screen, is the Dr. Cobb of "Thank You," a role that offers him great chance for sympathetic work.

Seniors Announce Harvest Party for Tomorrow Evening

Students of the senior class at New Trier High school will hold their annual Harvest party Saturday evening, November 21, in the mess hall of the school.

As this event marks the beginning of the social season for the seniors, it is always intended to be an unusual and brilliant affair. This year's party already promises to equal those of other years in elaboration of plans and skillful arrangement.

The mess hall will lose its usual appearance of a lunch room and will become the setting for a rollicking barn dance. Corn stalks and pumpkins will adorn the corners and posts, while lanterns will cast their yellow glow over the floor. At one end of the hall will be the orchestra, screened in by more corn stalks. Those who attend will wear old clothes, farmer's costumes, overalls and straw hats for the boys, sunbonnets and gingham dresses for the girls.
