

Here's a New One: Kindergartners in Appeal for Boots

Got any spare riding boots (ladies' sizes)?

Well, it's just like this. The young women students of the National Kindergarten and Elementary college which is erecting that magnificent new building on Sheridan road at the Wilmette-Evanston line, are required, among their other athletic endeavors, to take a course in horseback riding, or is it Equestriennism?

With this requirement, of course, comes the problem of selecting riding habits. Well, the habits are available at reasonable cost, alright, but, the boots, they are, oh my, so expensive.

Now then, some of the young women would like to get some boots at reduced cost, so they have wisely applied to Miss Mary Garretson, community nurse, for advice.

The resourceful Miss Garretson, in turn, has requested that persons having riding boots to spare leave them at Community House and she will "see that all boots are out to work without delay."

SPECIALIZES IN SEWING

A shop specializing in all manner of dressmaking, expert tailoring, plain and fancy sewing and smocking has been established in the Cox building at 1126 Central avenue, second floor, by Mrs. A. McKay. Mrs. McKay has enjoyed more than 12 years' experience in every department of her chosen field and comes highly recommended to her north shore clientele.

Miss A. C. Fitzgerald, 826 Locust street, has been ill with pneumonia for the past several weeks.

Parents' Day at School Proves Another Success

Thursday evening of this week parents of New Trier high school students visited the school and attended a shortened schedule of their children's classes. The event was held under auspices of the Parent-Teacher association to promote closer cooperation between the home and the school. This was the second meeting of its kind held at the school and both were well attended and very successful, according to school authorities.
